Military Chiefs Seen To Steer Bombing Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Broadened U.S. bombing in North Vietnam suggests President Johnson may now be heeding his military chiefs more and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara less on the course of the war.

If true, the days ahead may bring more U.S. attacks in high-risk, politically sensitive areas of the Communist country while magnifying whatever differences may exist between McNamara and the military.

A few days ago McNamara depreciated the need for striking the three major Communist ports of Haiphong, Cam Pha and Hon Gai. He told Congress this would not prevent the enemy from getting essential supplies through to forces in South Vietnam. The Joint Chiefs of Staff wanted all three hit.

Monday, Cam Pha was bombed.

Tuesday, American planes attacked Haiphong in what the military billed as an attempt to seal off the main port.

Hon Gai may be next on the list, with the timing dependent on when the port is empty of Soviet ships—the condition under which Cam Pha was raided.

These were his latest in a series of new targets to be hit this year.

An Associated Press check of communiques shows that more than 20 new, militarily vital targets have been struck by U.S. planes since February. McNamara reportedly had reservations about the values in bombing at least some of the targets, as well as the risks involved.

McNamara's press office drew a distinction between facilities hit in Haiphong Tuesday, and the inviolate docks.

Phil G. Goulding, chief Pentagon spokesman, denied any approval had been given for striking the port facilities—a move McNamara has long opposed since Soviet vessels often are unloading there.

Two bridges, a railyard and a storage warehouse were attacked, all within two miles of Haiphong's center, all previously untouched and all removed from the docks themselves.

The White House for the second time this month denied any major disagreement exists among the top civilian and military heads. White House press secretary George Christian told newsmen Wednesday it was

American Is Held in East Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—A Columbia University instructor may have been arrested in Communist East Germany because he photographed buildings in connection with his research on Berlin's architecture, U.S. officials suggest.

Although the charges against Ronald Wiedenhoft, 30, of Milwaukee, Wis., have not been disclosed, a State Department spokesman in Washington said he understood the young man had photographed buildings in East Berlin.

The Wiedenhofts came to West Berlin in mid-June with their two daughters, Sonje, 6, and Sabina, 7, so Wiedenhoft could do research on Berlin architecture for a Ph.D. degree, his wife, Renata, 24, told newsmen.

Mrs. Wiedenhoft, who was born in Berlin, said her husband went to East Berlin Sept. 5 and did not return that night.

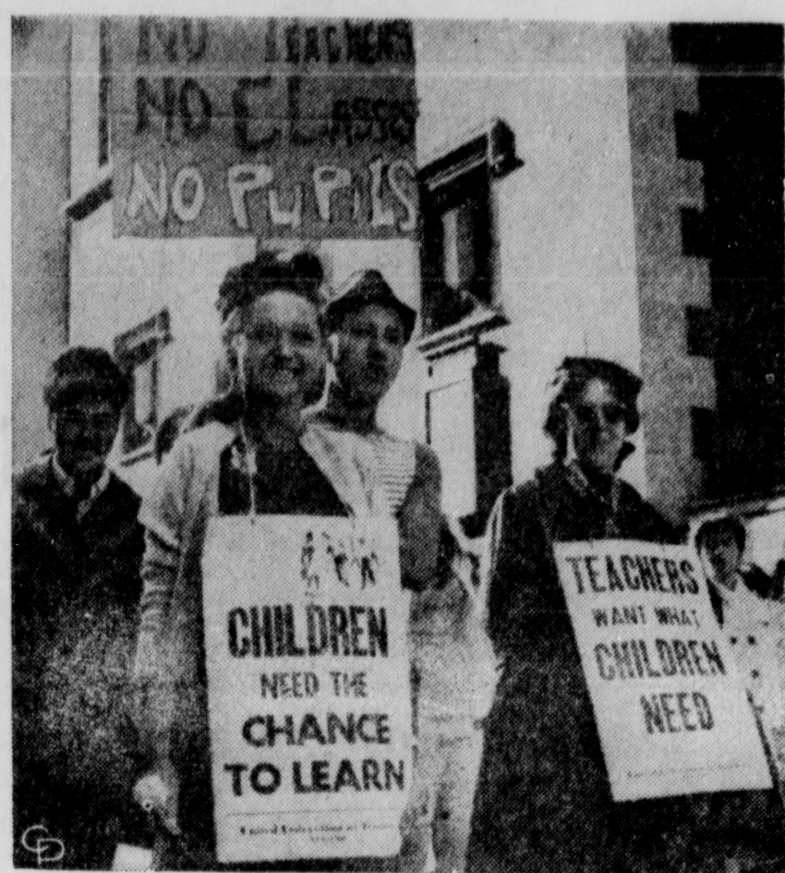

"I went to East Berlin looking for him," she said, "but he was not in any of the places we sometimes went to. The next day I went back and asked the East German police. They sent me to the state prosecutor's office. There I was told my husband had been arrested, but they refused to tell me why."

Unity of Africa Urged by Thant

KINSHASA, the Congo (AP)—United Nations Secretary-General U Thant told African leaders today they must stick together to survive.

"International cooperation is no longer just a desirable ideal," Thant said in a speech prepared for the closing session of the Organization of African Unity conference. "It is an imperative if we are to avoid collective suicide. Nationalism must adjust itself to this overriding reality."

The national needs of emerging countries in Africa and elsewhere are "less likely to be fulfilled without concerted international action," he said.

PICKAWAY Countians are reminded that Wednesday, Sept. 27, is the last day to register for the coming general elections.

To facilitate registration, in addition to its regularly scheduled hours of 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. week-days, the board of elections will add the special hours of 9 to 12 a.m. Saturday Sept. 16 and 23, and 7 to 9 p.m. Sept. 25, 26, and 27.

If you have changed your address since you last voted you must re-register.

THE traffic lights in Circleville developed a malfunction about 10 p.m. Wednesday. The lights were inoperative for about an hour.

Chief of Police Robert Temple asked motorists to use extreme caution at intersections any time traffic lights are out. "We will have officers at the busier intersections to direct traffic," Temple said today. "But the motorist must assume the responsibility of avoiding accidents at other intersections."

Recently police have experienced trouble with the lights because of a malfunction or short that apparently develops in the main power line servicing the lights.

THE flags were raised in downtown Circleville today in honor of PFC Lloyd Hughey, killed in Vietnam.

Hughey's funeral was held today. The veteran was buried in Forest Cemetery.

U.S. Lost 242 Killed Last Week

SAIGON (AP)—The hard fighting which followed South Vietnam's presidential election pushed American and Communist combat dead last week to their highest total in two months.

The U.S. Command reported 242 U.S. troops killed in action, 1,490 wounded and seven missing, while 2,103 of the enemy were reported killed, nearly double the 1,064 reported the week before.

It was the highest American and enemy toll since the week ending July 8, when 2,150 Red troops were reported killed. American casualties that week were 282 killed, 1,170 wounded and one missing.

The heavy casualties resulted from the fierce U.S. Marine fighting around coastal Tam Ky and 150 miles to the north near the fringes of the demilitarized zone.

By unofficial tabulation, the casualties brought the total number of Americans killed in combat in Vietnam to 13,129 and the total number of wounded to 81,669.

Showdown Near for Teachers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Formal education for more than 1.4 million of the nation's youngsters continued at a virtual standstill today as teachers strikes dragged on in New York City, Detroit and a number of smaller communities.

An extra week's vacation in the Florida sun ended today for 90,000 Broward County pupils who returned to classrooms in 102 public schools after teachers and the school board agreed on salaries.

In New York City the strike by the 49,000-member AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers entered its fourth day with union leaders declaring they would defy a State Supreme Court order to halt the walkout.

Union president Albert Shanker and two other officials were to appear in court to show cause why they should not be cited for contempt. If adjudged guilty they would face a maximum penalty of $250 and 30 days in jail.

The Detroit Board of Education was looking for new sources of funds to meet union demands as the city's 11,000 teachers stuck to a "No contract, no work" pledge.

There were 17 other school districts in Michigan where contracts had yet to be signed and at least five of those boards were counting on court orders to keep classrooms open.

The Michigan Supreme Court said it would review orders under which teachers are working in three cities but refused to stay those orders until it reaches a decision sometime next month.

The board's latest offer included a $6,400 starting salary, up from the present $5,800 and a 39-week work year. The DFT demanded a $1,200 raise and a 38-week year.

In Broward County, Fla., the teachers settled for $5,600 starting pay. They had asked for $5,650 and the school board had offered $5,508.

OSU To Seek $15 Fee Boost

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State University trustees, meeting at the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center here today, announced they will seek approval of the Ohio Board of Regents for a $15 quarterly increase in its instructional fee and two other student fee increases to be effective with the winter quarter of 1968.

The board approved the fee schedule asked by President Novice G. Fawcett and a 1967-68 "continuation budget" of $136,917,720.

The proposed $15 increase in the instructional fee for resident students would bring this fee to $145 per quarter. In addition, students also pay a $20 student services fee which would be unchanged, bringing the total of $165 per quarter. Thus for a three quarter academic year, the fee would be $495.

U.S. Planes Hit North Missile Sites

SAIGON (AP)—High-altitude B52 bombers struck inside North Vietnam today at hidden sites where the Communists were preparing to put up missile stations in an effort to halt the damaging blows from the Stratofortresses along the demilitarized zone.

The B52 raid three miles inside North Vietnamese territory was one of three heavy strikes during which the big bombers unloaded some 450,000 pounds of bombs from the demilitarized zone north.

The heavy pressure in South Vietnam's northern provinces was reflected in last week's casualty figures announced today by the U.S. Command. The number of American and Communist combat dead were the highest in two months, and at least two-thirds of the Americans were around the coastal town of Tam Ky and 150 miles to the north on the fringes of the DMZ.

The U.S. Command said 242 Americans were killed last week, 1,490 were wounded and seven were missing South Vietnamese forces reported 250 killed, while Communist dead totaled 2,103 killed.

Since the South Vietnamese presidential election Sept. 3 brought an end to a two-month lull in ground fighting, the Communists have repeatedly committed big units to battle in the north and hurled continual mortar and artillery barrages at the Marines holding the line south of the DMZ. The sandbagged, underground fortress at Con Thien has been a repeated target.

Today's B52 raids smothered the jungle routes leading down to Con Thien and blasted suspected artillery gun posts as well as the area north of the zone where preparations were spotted to install the big SAM missiles which can reach an altitude of 70,000 feet.

Earlier this year the Communists succeeded in bringing down the big missiles, forcing the Air Force to pull back its high-altitude bombers to targets below the zone.

The Air Force is determined that won't happen again, and is making heavy raids on all suspected missile activity in the southern part of North Vietnam.

Long Distance Phone Rates To Go Down

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission told American Telephone and Telegraph Co. today it could defer $20 million of an ordered $120 million long distance rate cut until May 1.

The FCC thus backed down from its July 5 ruling that AT&T must cut its rate $120 million by Oct. 1. In a 7-0 decision today, it ordered a $100 million reduction effective Nov. 1 and postponed the remainder until next spring.

The FCC also reversed part of its July 5 order to allow the giant communications combine to include an additional $344 million in its so-called rate base—the basis on which AT&T figures its profits.

But the commission remained firm on its earlier finding that AT&T must limit its rate of return on interstate operations to between 7 and 7.5 per cent.

AT&T originally had asked for a rate of return between 7.5 and 8.5 per cent. Officials had expressed concern that the lower range would be insufficient to attract investors to AT&T stock, which slumped following the FCC's original decision.

Violence Marks Trucker Strike

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A wildcat strike by private truckers has interrupted steel shipments in three states and touched off some gunfire, tire slashing and windshield smashing. One man was seriously hurt, another shot.

Most of the violence that erupted Wednesday was against nonstriking truckers hauling steel in Ohio and western Pennsylvania. Shipments were disrupted in those two states, Indiana and into the Midwest. The driver of one steel-hauling truck was wounded in the arm early today by a shot fired from a passing car on U. S. 224 near Medina, south of Cleveland, the Ohio Highway Patrol reported. The patrol said the driver told officers the car, with Pennsylvania license plates, had followed him from Canton, Ohio.

The wounded driver was identified as Alex Baker, 36, of Munroe Falls, Ohio. He was taken to Wadsworth - Rittman Hospital.

Meanwhile, steel was piling up in mills and warehouses in this steelmaking center. Some companies were turning to rail for shipping.

"We haven't moved a pound of steel today," said a spokesman for Eclipse Motor Lines, Inc., Pittsburgh, which hires driver-owned trucks.

U. S. Steel Corp. said pickets had a disruptive effect at its Irvin, Pa., works. Pickets at its Lorain, Ohio, works stopped steel hauling by 50 to 60 trucks a day there.

A judge granted an injunction to halt picketing at a Sharon Steel Corp. plant and a hearing was on tap for a similar action filed by Copperweld Steel Corp. Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. reported "some inconvenience on our westbound shipments."

Inland Steel said truck shipments were "off pace" and the big walled compound was unmanned at the time, Consul General Peter Hewitt having been forced to leave with his family last May after he was mauled and smeared with glue by rampaging Red Guards.

In Moscow, the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia asailed Mao Tse-tung for letting his Red Guards violate diplomatic immunity by attacking foreign embassies and mistreating diplomats.

Moscow radio declared that Mao had purged more than half the members of his Communist party central committee but was still unable to bring China under control. The broadcast said there was evidence that anti-Mao elements have in fact "grown to assume great power."

The Yugoslav news agency Tanjug said a Red Chinese paper has accused the wife of President Liu Shao-chi of having her enemies roasted, frozen and hanged upside down. Liu's wife, Wang Kuang-mei, has been the target of a number of attacks, apparently as a means of hitting at Liu.

Chloe was moving at about five miles per hour, with no threat to any land area.

Hurricane Doria was 325 miles north of Bermuda, drifting westward at two or three miles per hour. It had winds up to 80 miles per hour with gales 250 miles to the northwest. Little change in size or intensity was forecast.

Beulah, about 200 miles southwest of Kingston, Jamaica, was moving toward the west at five miles per hour. Highest winds were estimated at 55 miles per hour in a few squalls near the center.

Romney Makes Visit To Mahoning School

VIENNA, Ohio (AP)—Michigan Gov. George Romney's visit to the Mahoning Valley Vocational School put the school and this community of 633 persons in the national limelight for a brief time Wednesday.

Romney made the unique Mahoning Valley school one of the earliest stops on a nationwide tour in which he is looking at urban problems.

20 Arrested In Milwaukee Disturbance

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Gangs of white youths pelted Negro motorists and police cars with rocks, bottles and bricks Wednesday night in a fourth straight night of violence on the virtually all-white South Side.

The crowds had gathered for a second successive night in anticipation of an open housing march by Negroes who stopped short of the South Side neighborhood.

Police finally broke up the crowds of white youths with repeated barrages of tear gas and smoke bombs and with the intimidating blasts of riot guns and revolvers, but not before several police cars and vans were showered with flying debris. Three persons were injured. At least 20 were arrested.

The violence came despite a decision by the Rev. James E. Groppi, a white Roman Catholic priest, and the Milwaukee Youth Council of the National Advancement of Colored People, to steer clear of the South Side where their open housing march was greeted with bottles and bricks Monday night.

"We don't have to prove how brave we are," the priest said Wednesday before leading Negro marchers in a demonstration in the virtually all-Negro Inner Core.

It was the 17th straight night of demonstrations by the priest and the council which he advises.

Wednesday's violence was at first directed toward Negro motorists, many of them on their way to or from work in South Side industries.

Temporary Trio May Spell Pope

VATICAN CITY, (AP)—A special commission of three senior cardinals may administer the affairs of the Roman Catholic Church for a month late this year if Pope Paul VI undergoes a prostate operation.

Vatican sources said today the pontiff probably would appoint such a commission, unprecedented in the recent history of the Church, if a definite decision to operate is reached.

Three prominent physicians who examined the ailing Pope Wednesday said his condition had "improved notably" but that an operation might be necessary to accomplish a complete cure.

Slum Investment Readied By Life Insurance Firms

WASHINGTON (AP)—A $1 billion slum investment promise has boosted President Johnson's battered rent supplement program.

Life insurance leaders announced at the White House Wednesday they will make $1 billion of their $16 billion in annual investment money available for use in the city slums.

And Gilbert W. Fitzhugh, board chairman of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., said "the rent supplement program is probably the area into which he will move most rapidly."

Immediately, the move will provide the rent supplements program with private long-term mortgage money which have been lacking. This will counter critics of the rent supplement program who have argued supplements were not feasible because private firms couldn't invest in the building.

The move also could give rent supplements a lift in Congress, here the program is fighting for its life. A House-passed bill would kill it by denying expansion funds. The Senate Appropriations Committee gave new hope to supporters of the program by voting it the full $40 million the administration asked.

Rent supplements are the difference between a determined reasonable rental and the 25 per cent of their income which qualifying families pay.

Wednesday's announcement also gave the President his second announced new thrust into the low-income housing field in as many days. Robert C. Weaver, secretary of housing and urban development, said Tuesday it would be possible to double last fiscal year's output of public housing units to about 70,000 this year.

And less than a month ago Weaver announced a new plan to bring private enterprise into construction and management to speed production of low-income public housing.

Military Chiefs Seen To Steer Bombing Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Broad-

Monday, Cam Pha was bombed.

Tuesday, American planes at-military billed as an attempt to seal off the main port.

Hon Gai may be next on the list, with the timing dependent on when the port is empty of So-which Cam Pha was raided.

These were his latest in a series of new targets to be hit this year.

An Associated Press check of bombing at least some of the

U.S. Lost 242 Killed Last Week

SAIGON (AP)—The hard fighting which followed South Vietnam's presidential election pushed American and Communist combat dead last week to their highest total in two months.

The U.S. Command reported 242 U.S. troops killed in action, 1,490 wounded and seven missing, while 2,103 of the enemy were reported killed, nearly double the 1,064 reported the week before.

It was the highest American and enemy toll since the week ending July 8, when 2,150 Red troops were reported killed.
American casualties that week were 282 killed, 1,170 wounded and one missing.

The heavy casualties resulted from the fierce U.S. Marine

By unofficial tabulation, the casualties brought the total number of Americans killed in

Showdown Near for Teachers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Formal education for more than 1.4 million of the nation's youngsters continued at a virtual standstill today as teachers strikes dragged on in New York City, Detroit and a number of smaller communities.

An extra week's vacation in the Florida sun ended today for 50,000 Broward County pupils who returned to classrooms in 102 public schools after teachers and the school board agreed on salaries.

In New York City the strike
by the 49,000-member AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers entered its fourth day with union leaders declaring they would defy a State Supreme Court order to halt the walkout.

Union president Albert Shanker and two other officials were to appear in court to show cause why they should not be cited for contempt. If adjudged guilty they would face a maximum penalty of $250 and 30 days in jail.

The Detroit Board of Education was looking for new sources of funds to meet union demands as the city's 11,000 teachers stuck to a "No contract, no work" pledge.

There were 17 other school districts in Michigan where contracts had yet to be signed and at least five of those boards were counting on court orders to keep classrooms open.

The Michigan Supreme Court said it would review orders under which teachers are working in three cities but refused to stay those orders until it reaches a decision sometime next month.

The board's latest offer included a $6,400 starting salary, up from the present $5,800 and a 39-week work year. The DFT demanded a $1,200 raise and a 38-week year.

In Broward County, Fla., the teachers settled for $5,900 starting pay. They had asked for $5,650 and the school board had offered $5,508.

OSU To Seek $15 Fee Boost

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP)—Ohio

seek approval of the Ohio Board increase in its instructional fee winter quarter of 1968.

The board approved the fee schedule asked by President Novice G. Fawcett and a 1967-68 "continuation budget" of $136,917,720.

The proposed $15 increase in the instructional fee for resident students would bring this fee to $145 per quarter. In addition, students also pay a $20 would be unchanged, bringing the total of $165 per quarter.

Thus for a three quarter aca-

U.S. Planes Hit North Missile Sites

SAIGON (AP)—High-altitude
B52 bombers struck inside North Vietnam today at hidden were preparing to put up mis-

the damaging blows from the Stratofortresses along the de-

The B52 raid three miles inside North Vietnamese territory was one of three heavy strikes during which the big bombers unloaded some 450,000 pounds of bombs from the demilitarized zone north.

The heavy pressure in South Vietnam's northern provinces was reflected in last week's casualty figures announced today by the U.S. Command. The number of American and Communist combat dead were the highest in two months, and at least two-thirds of the Americans were around the coastal town of Tam Ky and 150 miles to the north on the fringes of the DMZ.

The U.S. Command said 242
Americans were killed last week, 1,490 were wounded and seven were missing South Vietnamese forces reported 250 killed, while Communist dead totalled 2,103 killed.

Since the South Vietnamese presidential election Sept. 3 brought an end to a two-month lull in ground fighting, the Committed big units to battle in the down the big missiles, forcing the Air Force to pull back its

The Air Force is determined that won't happen again, and is

Long Distance Phone Rates To Go Down

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission told American Telephone and Telegraph Co. today it could defer $20 million of an ordered $120 million long distance rate cut until May 1.

The FCC thus backed down from its July 5 ruling that AT&T must cut its rate $120 million by Oct. 1. In a 7-0 decision today, it ordered a $100 million reduction effective Nov. 1 and postponed the remainder until next spring.

The FCC also reversed part of its July 5 order to allow the giant communications combine to include an additional $544 million in its so-called rate base—the basis on which AT&T figures its profits.

But the commission remained firm on its earlier finding that AT&T must limit its rate of return on interstate operations to between 7 and 7.5 per cent.

AT&T originally had asked for a rate of return between 7.5 and 8.5 per cent. Officials had expressed concern that the lower range would be insufficient to attract investors to AT&T stock, which slumped following the FCC's original decision.

Violence Marks Trucker Strike

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A wildcat strike by private truckers has interrupted steel shipments in three states and touched off some gunfire, tire slashing and windshield smashing. One man was seriously hurt, another shot.

Most of the violence that erupted Wednesday was against nonstriking truckers hauling steel in Ohio and western Pennsylvania. Shipments were disrupted in those two states,
Indiana and into the Midwest.

The driver of one steel-hauling truck was wounded in the arm early today by a shot fired from a passing car on U. S. 224 near Medina, south of Cleveland, the Ohio Highway Patrol reported. The patrol said the driver told officers the car, with Pennsylvania license plates, had followed him from Canton, Ohio.

The wounded driver was identified as Alex Baker, 36, of Munroe Falls, Ohio. He was taken to Wadsworth - Rittman Hospital.

Meanwhile, steel was piling up in mills and warehouses in this steelmaking center. Some companies were turning to rail for shipping.

"We haven't moved a pound of steel today," said a spokesman for Eclipse Motor Lines, Inc., Pittsburgh, which hires driver-owned trucks.

U. S. Steel Corp. said pickets had a disruptive effect at its Irvin, Pa., works. Pickets at its Lorain, Ohio, works stopped steel hauling by 50 to 60 trucks a day there.

A judge granted an injunction to halt picketing at a Sharon Steel Corp. plant and a hearing was on tap for a similar action filed by Copperweld Steel Corp.
Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. reported "some inconvenience on our westbound shipments."

Inland Steel said truck shipments were "off pace" and

Hurricane Chloe No Threat Yet

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Weather forecasters watched two hurricanes well out in the Atlantic Ocean today, and kept a sharp eye on tropical storm Beulah, regaining strength in the Caribbean Sea southwest of Jamaica.

Hurricane Chloe, with highest winds of 110 miles per hour and no change in intensity indicated, drifted northwestward about 725 miles east southeast of Bermuda.

Chloe was moving at about five miles per hour, with no threat to any land area.

Hurricane Doria was 325 miles north of Bermuda, drifting westward at two or three miles per hour. It had winds up to 80 miles per hour with gales 250 miles to the northwest. Little change in size or intensity was forecast.

Beulah, about 200 miles southwest of Kingston, Jamaica, was moving toward the west at five miles per hour. Highest winds were estimated at 55 miles per hour in a few squalls near the center.

Romney Makes Visit To Mahoning School

VIENNA, Ohio (AP)—Michigan Gov. George Romney's visit to the Mahoning Valley Vocational School put the school and this community of 633 persons in the national limelight for a brief time Wednesday.

Romney made the unique Mahoning Valley school one of

ing at urban problems.

20 Arrested In Milwaukee Disturbance

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—
Gangs of white youths pelted Negro motorists and police cars with rocks, bottles and bricks Wednesday night in a fourth straight night of violence on the virtually all-white South Side.

The crowds had gathered for a second successive night in anticipation of an open housing march by Negroes who stopped short of the South Side neighborhood.

Police finally broke up the crowds of white youths with repeated barrages of tear gas and smoke bombs and with the intimidating blasts of riot guns and revolvers, but not before several police cars and vans were showered with flying debris. Three persons were injured. At least 20 were arrested.

The violence came despite a decision by the Rev. James E.
Groppi, a white Roman Catholic priest, and the Milwaukee Youth Council of the National Advancement of Colored People, to steer clear of the South Side where their open housing march was greeted with bottles and bricks Monday night.

"We don't have to prove how brave we are," the priest said Wednesday before leading Negro marchers in a demonstration in the virtually all-Negro Inner Core.

It was the 17th straight night of demonstrations by the priest and the council which he advices.

Wednesday's violence was at first directed toward Negro motorists, many of them on their way to or from work in South Side industries.

Temporary Trio May Spell Pope

VATICAN CITY, (AP)—A special commission of three senior cardinals may administer the affairs of the Roman Catholic Church for a month late this year if Pope Paul VI undergoes a prostate operation.

Vatican sources said today the pontiff probably would appoint such a commission, unprecedented in the recent history of the Church, if a definite decision to operate is reached.

Three prominent physicians who examined the ailing Pope Wednesday said his condition had "improved notably" but that an operation might be necessary to accomplish a complete cure.

Slum Investment Readied By Life Insurance Firms

WASHINGTON (AP)—A $1 billion slum investment promise has boosted President Johnson's battered rent supplement program.

Life insurance leaders announced at the White House Wednesday they will make $1 billion of their $16 billion in annual investment money available for use in the city slums.

And Gilbert W. Fitzhugh, board chairman of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., said
"the rent supplement program is probably the area into which he will move most rapidly."

Immediately, the move will provide the rent supplements program with private long-term mortgage money which have been lacking. This will counter critics of the rent supplement program who have argued supplements were not feasible because private firms couldn't invest in the building.

The move also could give rent supplements a lift in Congress, here the program is fighting for its life. A House - passed bill would kill it by denying expansion funds. The Senate Appropriations Committee gave new hope to supporters of the program by voting it the full $40 million the administration asked.

Rent supplements are the difference between a determined reasonable rental and the 25 per cent of their income which qualifying families pay.

Wednesday's announcement also gave the President his second announced new thrust into the low-income housing field in as many days. Robert C. Weaver, secretary of housing and urban development, said Tuesday it would be possible to double last fiscal year's output of public housing units to about 70, 000 this year.

And less than a month ago
Weaver announced a new plan to bring private enterprise into construction and management to speed production of low-income public housing.

Police fired tear gas earlier to disperse the crowd after about 300 white youths had marched on the residence of William E. Cousins, the Roman Catholic archbishop of Milwaukee.

The youths were demanding for a second night in a row, that the church censure Father Groppi.

The archbishop came to the front lawn of his residence and spoke briefly to the group, many of whom seemed under 16.

After the archbishop referred the group to an editorial he wrote on the question in the archdiocesan newspaper Wednesday, the group marched back to the South Side where it was greeted with cheers.

The archbishop's editorial neither censured nor supported the controversial priest but warned against confusing Father Groppi with the city's racial problems.

"We are being diverted by emotion and mob psychology into fighting a straw figure while the real enemy goes unscathed," the archbishop said in the editorial.

Seat belts were credited with saving Fountain E. Minor, 38, Route 1, Amanda, from serious injury when his car spun out of control on the Walnut Creek Pike south of the Franklin county line today.

Minor approached a sharp left curve, slid off the roadway and struck a utility pole, snapping it off. The car flipped over on its top and skidded through 10 rods of farm fence.

The car was completely destroyed. Cpl. Ernie Wigglesworth of the Ohio State Highway Patrol said that had Minor not had his seat belt fastened, he could have been seriously injured or killed.

It is the fourth accident at the location within a month according to the patrol.

Police fired tear gas earlier to disperse the crowd after about 300 white youths had marched on the residence of William E. Cousins, the Roman Catholic archbishop of Milwaukee.

The youths were demanding for a second night in a row, that the church censure Father Groppi.

The archbishop came to the front lawn of his residence and spoke briefly to the group, many of whom seemed under 16.

After the archbishop referred the group to an editorial he wrote on the question in the archdiocesan newspaper Wednesday, the group marched back to the South Side where it was greeted with cheers.

The archbishop's editorial neither censured nor supported the controversial priest but warned against confusing Father Groppi with the city's racial problems.

"We are being diverted by emotion and mob psychology into fighting a straw figure while the real enemy goes unscathed," the archbishop said in the editorial.

Freight vs People

Not so many years ago hogs en route to market enjoyed the dubious convenience of through transcontinental rail service at a time when passengers still were required to change trains.

Today a somewhat parallel situation exists in air transportation. In the competitive rush to harvest the booming airfreight business, airlines are boasting door-to-door delivery service.

Yet passengers are left to fight their way along ever more congested roads to and from airports. This access problem, which the airline industry considers a major, if not the toughest, challenge in the years ahead is one of the subjects being explored by two congressional subcommittees concerned with the future of aviation.

The Senate subcommittee has before it a plan offered by the Airport Operators Council International, to tax jet fuel to help build more airports. A user tax also would be imposed on airline fares to build terminals and access roads.

With the debut of the 400-seat jumbos less than three years away, which will certainly increase the flow of people to and from airports, responsible aviation experts shudder at the prospect of worsening road access to the terminals.

The Business World

By John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — The handwriting as on the all, clear and unmistakable in this age of legislated equality, so the girls of the National Secretaries Association finally agreed to admit their first male associate.

"This is a clean break with one of the basic precepts set down by the founders 25 years ago," announced the association, which now has more than 25,000 members, all but one of them female.

But the real story is the odyssey of C.J. "Bucky" Helmer Jr., who fought a long, lonely battle against the forces of discrimination by sex, a battle some men concede is uneven on a one-to-one basis. But 25,000 to one makes Helmer a hero.

Now that accord has been reached, "some members will have to try to adjust," said Helmer, an employee of the New York State Electric & Gas Corp., Birmingham, N. Y.

"I'll be active but no more so than any other active member," he said.

Using wisdom acquired as the only male in a secretarial class of 90, and as the only man in a family that includes his wife and 5-year-old daughter, Helmer emphasized:

"I don't want to give the impression I want to take over, so I won't press for office."

Bucky Helmer's battle was not an easy one. In 1964, when he was in his early 20s, he applied but found the NSA had no provisions for admitting men. All their brochures referred to she and her—never to he or him or his.

"Back in 1964, I couldn't get to first base with the NSA," said Helmer. He formed his own group, the Male Secretaries of America, and helped it grow to 315 members.

Although the girls remind everyone that the equality provisions of the Civil Rights Act do not apply to their association, they recognized the pressures of the times. They changed their attitude and their bylaws this year.

Bucky Helmer again applied and was invited this month to Kansas City, the national headquarters. In fact, the girls paid his way there. They baked him a cake and decorated it to say "NSA welcomes Bucky Helmer to membership."

Lenore Forti, president, duly noted that history was being made. "Perhaps secretarial historians will record that Bucky Helmer is symbolic of the Biblical Jeshua for whom the walls of Jericho went tumbling down," she said.

Helmer responded in the only way a humble male could respond. "I am deeply grateful," he said. "I guess it is everybody's dream to be first at something."

He could hardly fail to reflect on history himself. Once the dark offices of the late 19th century were all male, to the spittoons on the floor and the tobacco stains on the walls.

"It was predicted that a girl's mind would snap and her constitution would break down under the strain of operating office equipment," an NSA member recalled.

By 1930 there were signs that the male secretary was on his way out. But now, Helmer feels, the man may be regaining favor, thanks to the schools and thanks in part to the democratic attitude of the women.

Helmer, following in the tradition of his mother and stepmother, is proud tobaccodasectary, even though he is now a safety analyst.

"Aside from some extra responsibilities my work is exactly the same as when I was classified a secretary," he said. "My duties include routine office work, dictation, typing, preparing reports."

Now that he has cracked the NSA barrier, Helmer's Male Secretaries of America must consider what to do with their own group, which was formed to educate and interest men in the advantages of secretarial careers.

"We can keep going on as now," he said, "or we can disband or we can reorganize as an honor society. We're planning a referendum."

Which, in this age of legislated equality, may perhaps bring up the suggestion that women be considered for membership.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A POPULAR minister arranged to divide his vacation into ten four-day visits with wealthy parishoners who had invited him to their respective summer homes, scattered from Maine to Northern Michigan.

A methodical fellow, he wrote all of his effusive thank-you notes before departing for his first stop in Ogunquit, sealed, addressed, and stamped the letters, bound them with a rubber band, and put the pack in his valise.

Just before he left home, he discovered the bundle was missing. His mail vouchsafed the explanation: "Oh, yes, Reverend, I saw that you had forgotten to mail those letters you wrote last night. I gave them to the postman this morning."

George Bernard Shaw one day received an invitation from a celebrity-chasing London lady he detested that read, "Lady So-and-So will be at home next Wednesday between four and six." The author returned the card with this P.S. appended thereto: "Mr. Bernard Shaw likewise."

"I've got some words for you," proposed Annabella, the Wall Street Jean Kerr, "that are spelled alike—so why not pronounce them alike. Just pronounce the second capitalized word in each sentence the same as the first one."

1. I'm MATURE by NATURE.
2. I LOVE your STOVE.
3. The DOUGH is TOUGH.
4. Arrows went THROUGH the BOUGH.

"After you've said these," concludes Miss Annabella, "I hope your LAUGHTER SLAUGHTERS you."

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Our trusted friend and advisor has been our general doctor for 40 years. He now has retired and moved to another state. He left all our records with a young man who has just taken over his medical practice.

We feel lost without our old doctor and cannot seem to develop the same relationship with the new one. Are we being unfair to him?

Mr. L. L., Nebraska
Dear Mr. L.: A relationship of 40 years with a doctor has solidified bonds of great magnitude. During health and illness, during periods of happiness and unhappiness your doctor has been a bulwark of support.

The fact that he has retired is undoubtedly a threat to your security. Certainly, this is understandable after so many years.

When first your doctor came into your community, I am certain that your parents considered him to be a "young, medical upstart," who could not possibly replace their favorite doctor. This is a lovely cycle of mutual respect and admiration that is built on many years of devotion.

You can be sure that when your doctor retired he carefully evaluated all the new, young physicians that were available and made a choice of one who would well carry the medical heritage he had built.

The young doctor will soon show his talents and his warmth to you. You, as patients, must make him welcome and keep him from being in constant competition with his beloved predecessor.

In this way you will insure another kind of relationship; one that may be somewhat different from the one with your former doctor. It may be different but within a short period of time a solid bond of faith will be established between you to give you complete medical security.

I have been in perfect health during my entire 49 years. Recently, I fell and hurt the bottom of my spine. The injury was not very serious but it left me with a cyst that now needs surgery. How can this happen in a perfectly healthy man?

Mr. P. V., Maryland

Patron Saint for the Hippies

By John Chamberlain

The hippies have been identifying themselves with Henry David Thoreau, who sought peace by Walden Pond and refused to pay taxes to support the Mexican War. But their real patron saint should be the first Henry Ford.

I was put on to this by a chance encounter, in a plane to Chicago, with Burnet Hershey, who boasts the distinction of having been the only war correspondent accredited to Eisenhower's headquarters in World War II who had also been with General Pershing in World War I. Hershey, as a cub reporter of nineteen, had sailed on the Oscar II in December of 1915 with Henry Ford's peace expedition to Scandinavia, and he put his new book, "The Odyssey of Henry Ford and the Great Peace Ship" (Taplinger), into my hands to beguile me during the flight.

The hippie creed is all in Henry Ford's utterances during the planning stages of the voyage that was supposed to "get the boys out of the trenches by Christmas." First, there is the Ford conviction that "history is bunk." Second, there is the accent on what the hippies call "flower power," or the moving contagion of creating an example by love.

The lesson of Mr. Hershey's tragicomic story of Ford's effort to halt World War I by exhortation, and to establish "continuous mediation" between the Great Powers, is that "the more history changes, the more it is the same thing." They even spoke of "hawks"—or "eagles"—and "doves" on the Oscar II. The utterances of the Oscar II doves show the deep strain in American thinking that denies the relevance of balance of power questions, which have affected history ever since the first tribes of hunters moved out of the mountains of Asia to enslave the first agriculturalists on the fertile plains. Since the pursuit of power shouldn't matter (which is what the American idealists say), there is no need to study past history. Humanity in this view always has a clean slate before it, and with "love" the slate can be filled with a new approach to life.

This is what Henry Ford actually thought when Madame Rosika Schwimmer, the Hungarian pacifist, persuaded him to charter the Danish ship Oscar II to carry forty "peace" delegates to a rendezvous at the Grand Hotel in Stockholm, which was functioning as the capital of neutral Europe.

Ford thought that $500,000 in "flower power" spent on a sea caravan of pacifists could persuade the German Kaiser, the Russian Czar, and the elected representatives of Britain and France, to call off the war and "put a stop to the silly killings."

It all ended in fiasco, of course. Bill Bullitt, a reporter on the Oscar II, was later to define a pacifist as one who is "hard to pacify." But the American idealist is incorrigible. Even such a sensible man as Bishop Fulton Sheen can ignore what happened to the "odyssey of the great peace ship" (it ended in a squabble over "preparedness") and urge that the U. S. remove its troops by simple unilateral decision from Vietnam. "Flower power," translated into such a decision, would be something new in the world, according to Bishop Sheen, who apparently thinks that the example of a great power decamping might so flabbergast Ho Chi Minh that he would refrain from murdering the South Vietnam Catholics, who have opposed a Communist takeover of the country. The only trouble with this dream is that Ho Chi Minh, no Christian, believes with Mao Tse-tung that power comes out of the barrel of a gun.

This column has learned to its cost that the genus hippie, far from being a Ferdinand the Bull who loved to smell the flowers, can be shrewish beyond belief. This came out in a response to a column telling the hippies they couldn't make a patron saint for themselves out of Thoreau, who was an incredibly disciplined man in everything he did. Henry Ford as an industrialist was disciplined, too. But the hippies could have Henry in his peace ship manifestation.

They had better not read Mr. Hershey's story of the fate of "flower power" in the year 1915, however. For it might unsettle them to learn that when one says "history is bunk," history may be getting ready to let go with a real haymaker.

Wedding Vows Repeated In Lutheran Church

MRS. GERALD FREDERICK RODZIK

Miss Cheryl Bray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alden Dixon Bray, 346 Meadow Lane, and Gerald Frederick Rodzik, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund J. Rodzik of Warren, Mich., were united in marriage, 7:30 p. m. Sept. 2.

The Rev. Carl G. Zehner performed the double ring ceremony in Trinity Lutheran Church before an altar adorned with pedestal and altar vases of white gladioli, Fuji and shasta pompon mums and palms. White satin bows with ivy streamers marked the pews.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a diamond white pure silk gown with pyramid silhouette and snug bodice. Peau d'ange lace embroidered and embellished with wheat shaped pearls, scattered irradiance sequins and pearl droplets formed the wedding ring neckline and the short sleeves. Her matching pillbox of diamond white lace and beading held her tiered bouffant veil of imported silk English illusion which cascaded into full cathedral length. She carried a semi-colonial cascade bouquet of white sweetheart roses, baby's-breath, French carnations and English ivy.

Mrs. Thomas Downing, organist, and Mrs. Richard Wessels, soloist, presented a program of nuptial music.

Miss Vicki Bray, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. Attendants included Miss Wendy Bray, sister of the bride, and Miss Leslie Kurtz, both of Circleville; Miss Donna Rodzik, sister of the bridegroom, of Warren, Mich.; Miss Karen Raven of Caro, Mich., and Miss Ruth Ann Long of Millington, Mich.

The attendants all wore sleeveless gowns of moss green silk organza veiled over pink taffeta fashioned in the skimmer silhouette, with high ruffled neckline, empire bodice and full sweeping back. They carried semi-colonial cascade bouquets of pink sweetheart roses, pink baby's-breath and French carnations with ivy streamers. Their headpieces were shoulder length, moss green over pink tulle with moss satin pompon bows.

Flower girl, Cathy Metcalf, cousin of the bridegroom, wore a pink silk organza dress styled similar to those of the bridesmaids. She wore a pink veil and carried a basket of pink sweetheart roses and white shasta pompons.

Robert Spencer of Battle Creek, Mich., was best man. Ushers were Edmund Rodzik Jr., and Dennis Rodzik, brothers of the groom, of Warren, Mich.; Ronald Robertson of Detroit, Mich., and John Pharr of Circleville. Ring bearer was Ronald Aneed of Detroit, Mich.

A reception at the Pickaway Country Club followed the ceremony. Hostesses were Miss Bridget Miller, Britton, Mich.; Mrs. Madelyn Midkiff of Chillicothe; Mrs. Thomas Copeland, Miss Kathy Edgington and Mrs. Willson Leist, all of Circleville. Miss Edgington presided at the guest book and Mrs. Leist assisted with the cake.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Bray wore a silk and worsted dress and coat costume in celery tone with matching accessories. Her corsage was of green cymbidium orchids.

W Lloyd Sprouse will be the speaker when the Pickaway County Historical Society meets at 8 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 21, in St. Philip's Parish House. His topic, "Toll Roads of Pickaway County", promises to be an interesting one.

Ohio University; however, his college work was interrupted by service overseas during World War I.

When he returned to civilian life, he served as principal and superintendent in several different schools and finally completed work for his M. A. and Ph. D. degrees at Ohio State University in 1940. After being associated with the universities at Buffalo and Rochester, New York, Doctor Sprouse became Director of the Division of Instruction of the Ohio State Department of Education. From here he transferred to Ohio State University, where he served as assistant director and Director of Admissions for 21½ years.

At the present time Doctor Sprouse is retired from active professional work with the title, Director of Admissions Emeritus. He keeps himself quite busy, however, with several different projects and still consults with young people who are planning to go to college.

When you buy green onions (scallions) make sure their tops are green. If the tops are a wilted yellow, the onions have been held too long.

Accessories and a pink orchid corsage.

The bride attended Purdue University and Michigan State University at Lansing, Mich.

The bridegroom is a veteran of the United States Air Force and will be a senior at Michigan State University this fall.

For a wedding trip to Northern Michigan, the bride was attired in a camel colored suit with harmonizing accessories and wore the corsage of white sweetheart roses from her bridal bouquet.

The couple is residing at Capitol Villa Apartments, Apt. 173, East Lansing, Mich.

Miss Ruth Montelius Addresses Garden Club

Miss Ruth Montelius addressed the Pickaway County Garden Club when it met Tuesday evening in the social room of the First Presbyterian Church.

Miss Montelius began her talk by stating that the best way to begin a rose garden is by research. She recommended a trip to the library where many good books pertaining to the growing of various roses are available.

The next step she said is to choose the type of roses you wish to grow and those that will thrive in your garden. "All roses should be in a well drained location and not where clay is below the top soil as roses don't like wet feet," she said.

She stated that the ground should be properly prepared before roses are planted. Some roses need shelter, while others grow well in open areas. All rose bushes should be planted immediately even if they must be put in a trench until the final location is readied, the guest speaker noted.

Frequent watering, she stated, is most important, and roses to be picked for flower shows should be watered two days before picking. Then the roses should be put in warm water and placed in a dark place overnight. The following day they are to be put in a refrigerator that is not too cold or the roses will be damaged.

More men grow roses for flower shows than women. Miss Montelius believes this is true because of the energy involved in caring for roses properly.

She concluded by saying that the Rose Society will be of great help to any rose grower.

Mrs. Kenneth Hannan conducted the business session. She stated that the planters and tree for the downtown area have been ordered, but will not be delivered until arrangements have been made for watering and proper care. The group agreed in the meantime to place the money in a savings account.

Mrs. Hannan reported that

John Huston, Renowned Master, One of Busiest Movie Directors

LEENANE, Ireland (AP) — Portrait of the artist as a 61-year-old man—

Here in the craggy hills of western Ireland John Huston is filming his 25th movie, "Sinful Davey," a tale of a real-life Scottish highwayman of the 1820s. The sun was hidden by the Connemara clouds one day, and the lanky Missouri-born director paused to reflect on his life and career as he passed his 61st birthday.

He allowed that he felt no older and experienced no signs of age "except that I seem to fall off horse more often." He continues to work at a steady clip.

"I make more pictures than any of the first-line directors," he remarked, adding with a rueful grin, "maybe I make too many. But then, my expenses are greater."

Some Huston supporters fear that the master makes too many pictures, accepting assignments that are unworthy of his talents. But when you see his manor in County Galway, you can understand why he must regularly earn his fee of $500,000 per picture plus 10 percent of the profits. There he lives in a style reminiscent of the late William Randolph Hearst, surrounded by art works he has collected on film locations in Mexico, Japan, Africa and Italy.

The director claimed that he undertook no film without enthusiasm for its chances.

"You have to be an optimist in this business," he observed. "You must enter into a film with great good hopes for its success. Those hopes usually continue, despite the troubles that ensue. But sometimes you are forced into a position where you are required to make compromises. Then you begin to experience a kind of dejection that presages doom."

"On the other hand, you can sense a euphoria when everything is going right. There is no question about 'African Queen' having been that way. And 'Sierra Madre' also."

"Either way, I always say the picture's great. Two or three years later I may change my tune." He punctuated this with a burst of Hustonian laughter. John Huston was Hollywood-trained, having started as a screen writer in 1932. His writing credits were distinguished—"Juarez," "Jezebel," "Sergeant York," "High Sierra," most of them done in collaboration, as was the custom. Only when he turned director did he become known as something more than Walter Huston's son. He chose to direct a remake of "The Maltese Falcon" (1941) starring Humphrey Bogart, until then a journeyman heavy for Warner Brothers. The film became the definite work in the private-detective generation and accelerated the careers of Huston and Bogart.

After distinguished service as a maker of war documentaries such as "The Battle of San Pietro," Huston returned to Hollywood with obvious dissatisfaction for The System. More and more he tried to make his films away from the control of the studios, as he did with his masterpiece, "The Treasure of the Sierra Madre." It won 1947 directing and writing Oscars for Huston, as well as one for acting support by his father.

"Sierra Madre" completed John Huston's independence as a film maker, and he has rarely worked in the Hollywood studios since then. He retains no fondness for the big-studio operation.

"The studios became over-mechanized, and because of that the system was doomed," he observed. "Until the monopoly laws took effect and the studios were required to get rid of their theaters, they could control the supply and demand."

That meant that a premium was placed on efficiency—grinding out the product on a factory basis.

"I'd like to make a picture the way Ingmar Bergman does. He can take a crew of 20-25 persons, including the actors, and make a picture that suits him. Maybe there would be three electricians and one camera-

man. The actors would drive their own cars and do their own makeup and wardrobe. Out of this kind of operation Bergman can produce a masterpiece.

"I have two or three subjects that I would like to make in that manner, perhaps taking two or three times as long to shoot as I normally would. Perhaps some day—"

He gazed rather wistfully toward the green hills across the lake, and his listener wondered if it would ever come to pass. Meanwhile he appear to be content working for high salaries to finance the life he leads as an Irish squire. He became an Irish citizen on Jan. 3, 1964, and film insiders considered the move a tax-saving device.

But there is no mistaking his love of the pastoral life of western Ireland and for the Irish themselves.

"Life is very good here," he said. "I like my home very much, and I like to ride and to hunt. I have a helluva good time. My life fits right into my work. I don't separate one from the other, any more than a painter can separate his life from his painting."

Draft Laws Explained

EDITOR'S NOTE: In an effort to create a greater public understanding of the laws and regulations governing the induction of personnel into the Armed Forces, the Selective Service System has prepared a series of pertinent question and corresponding responses concerning provisions of the draft law.

Q. Where may I get information and help concerning an appeal?

A. The Government Appeal Agent associated with your local board, normally an attorney, is available to counsel you concerning your rights and obligations under the selection service law. There is no charge for this service. Contact your local board clerk and request that an appointment be arranged for you to meet with him.

Q. I recently heard there is a shortage of tool and die makers. Would being a tool and die maker exempt me from being drafted?

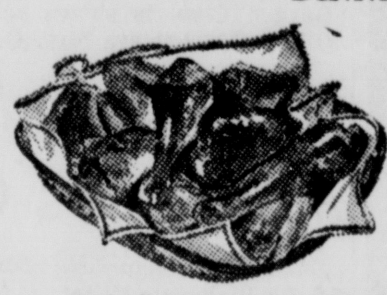

A. No, not as such. While the Selective Service System is authorized to provide for the deferment of any or all categories of persons whose employment in industry, agriculture, or other occupations or employment is found to be necessary to the maintenance of the national health, safety, or interest, "blanket deferments" are not permitted by law. Each case must be determined on an individual basis.

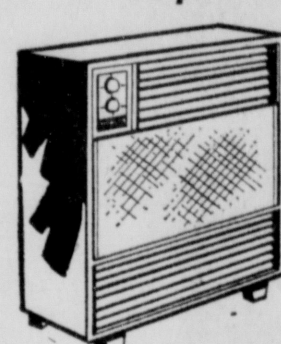

Q. Can registrants who go to Canada to evade the draft ever return to the United States without being prosecuted?

A. Prosecution is a function of the Department of Justice and not of the Selective Service System. A registrant who is a citizen of the United States is not relieved of his obligations under the selective service law when he leaves the country. He has the continuing duty to keep his local board informed of his current address and to obey all lawful orders of that board. His failure to perform any duties required of him under the law constitutes a violation which may render him liable to prosecution.

LEENANE, Ireland (AP) — Portrait of the artist as a 61-year-old man—

Here in the craggy hills of western Ireland John Huston is filming his 25th movie, "Sinful Davey," a tale of a real-life Scottish highwayman of the 1820s. The sun was hidden by the Connemara clouds one day, and the lanky Missouri-born director paused to reflect on his life and career as he passed his 61st birthday.

He allowed that he felt no older and experienced no signs of age "except that I seem to fall off horse more often." He continues to work at a steady clip.

"I make more pictures than any of the first-line directors," he remarked, adding with a rueful grin, "maybe I make too many. But then, my expenses are greater."

Some Huston supporters fear that the master makes too many pictures, accepting assignments that are unworthy of his talents. But when you see his manor in County Galway, you can understand why he must regularly earn his fee of $500,000 per picture plus 10 percent of the profits. There he lives in a style reminiscent of the late William Randolph Hearst, surrounded by art works he has collected on film locations in Mexico, Japan, Africa and Italy.

The director claimed that he undertook no film without enthusiasm for its chances.

"You have to be an optimist in this business," he observed. "You must enter into a film with great good hopes for its success. Those hopes usually continue, despite the troubles that ensue. But sometimes you are forced into a position where you are required to make compromises. Then you begin to experience a kind of dejection that presages doom."

"On the other hand, you can sense a euphoria when everything is going right. There is no question about 'African Queen' having been that way. And 'Sierra Madre' also."

"Either way, I always say the picture's great. Two or three years later I may change my tune." He punctuated this with a burst of Hustonian laughter. John Huston was Hollywood-trained, having started as a screen writer in 1932. His writing credits were distinguished—"Juarez," "Jezebel," "Sergeant York," "High Sierra," most of them done in collaboration, as was the custom. Only when he turned director did he become known as something more than Walter Huston's son. He chose to direct a remake of "The Maltese Falcon" (1941) starring Humphrey Bogart, until then a journeyman heavy for Warner Brothers. The film became the definite work in the private-detective generation and accelerated the careers of Huston and Bogart.

After distinguished service as a maker of war documentaries such as "The Battle of San Pietro," Huston returned to Hollywood with obvious dissatisfaction for The System. More and more he tried to make his films away from the control of the studios, as he did with his masterpiece, "The Treasure of the Sierra Madre." It won 1947 directing and writing Oscars for Huston, as well as one for acting support by his father.

"Sierra Madre" completed John Huston's independence as a film maker, and he has rarely worked in the Hollywood studios since then. He retains no fondness for the big-studio operation.

"The studios became over-mechanized, and because of that the system was doomed," he observed. "Until the monopoly laws took effect and the studios were required to get rid of their theaters, they could control the supply and demand."

That meant that a premium was placed on efficiency—grinding out the product on a factory basis.

"I'd like to make a picture the way Ingmar Bergman does. He can take a crew of 20-25 persons, including the actors, and make a picture that suits him. Maybe there would be three electricians and one camera-

man. The actors would drive their own cars and do their own makeup and wardrobe. Out of this kind of operation Bergman can produce a masterpiece.

"I have two or three subjects that I would like to make in that manner, perhaps taking two or three times as long to shoot as I normally would. Perhaps some day—"

He gazed rather wistfully toward the green hills across the lake, and his listener wondered if it would ever come to pass. Meanwhile he appeared to be content working for high salary to finance the life he leads as an Irish squire. He became an Irish citizen on Jan. 3, 1964, and film insiders considered the move a tax-saving device.

But there is no mistaking his love of the pastoral life of western Ireland and for the Irish themselves. "Life is very good here," he said. "I like my home very much, and I like to ride and to hunt. I have a helluva good time. My life fits right into my work. I don't separate one from the other, any more than a painter can separate his life from his painting."

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren
'Appearance' Fine Character Index

DEAR ABBY: A kid named Allen came over to see me because my parents think I'm too young to date. I'm 14, but am very mature for my age. Well, when my father met Allen he told me he didn't want to see him around again unless he had a shave and a haircut. It so happens that Allen plays with a band and he HAS to wear his hair like that. But I told him what my father said anyway, and about that time the band broke up, so Allen got his hair cut.

Now, my father says he doesn't like Allen because he never stands up when an older person comes into the room, and he doesn't look clean, and he dresses like a freak, and blah, blah, blah, etc. My father is just looking for things to pick at because he doesn't like him.

How can I get my father to realize that the way a guy looks is none of HIS business. Allen is a good kid and I like him. Please help me.

LIKES ALLEN

DEAR LIVES: The way a "guy" looks may be none of your father's business, but the kind of fellows who call on his 14-year-old daughter is probably

Curtis LeMay Disclaims Presidential Aspirations

By STEPHEN H. MILLER
MOUNT VERNON, Ohio (AP) — Here in Curtis E. LeMay's old home town a corporal's guard of political amateurs is dedicating itself to the proposition that the retired general can, and should be the next president of the United States.

If LeMay shares either the optimism or enthusiasm of the part-time politicians toiling to win the Republican nomination for him, he manages to contain it, at least in public.

Reached by telephone at Chatsworth, Calif., where he now lives, the former chief of staff of the U.S. Air Force said: "At the present time I don't consider myself running for any public office. As a matter of fact, I'm dodging engagements right now."

LeMay said he had a job to do as board chairman of Network Electronics Corp., and that if he accepted every invitation "I'd never get them done."

The general's less than whole hearted commitment doesn't haze his supporters in Mount Vernon, proudly organized as the Citizens for LeMay.

In fact, his supporters incline to a rather sanguine view of the campaign, and any obstacle that might arise between their man and the White House.

Shirley Fletcher, cofounder of the Citizens for LeMay and co-chairman of the "national" office, pretty well summed up their viewpoint.

"All we need to do," said she, "is refresh the memories of the American people."

To that end, LeMay bumper stickers are now available, and the Citizens are busily circulating press releases outlining the general's positions on various issues. Among other things, LeMay advocates more extensive bombing of North Vietnam, a space program that emphasizes both science and defense, and establishment of a system of labor court to settle labor-management disputes.

Sertoma Club Sees LSD Film

Wes Barton, of the Circleville Police Department was the speaker at the Sertoma luncheon Wednesday.

Barton brought with him a film entitled "LSD-25." It was a first-time showing in the state of Ohio. The film pointed out the distortion of shapes and colors of a typical "trip". Many people who take LSD can have various side effects. It depends on the chemical make-up of the individual more than the chemical make-up of the drug itself Barton told Sertomians.

Blurred vision could occur up to one year after on individual has taken a "trip". This could account for an undetermined amount of automobile accidents, he said.

LSD is sold in various shapes and sizes, but a normal dose could actually be confined to the head of a pin, the officer noted.

After the movie, Burton described other drugs available on the market today and the problems that the police have in dealing with them.

Today is Thursday, Sept. 14, the 257th day of 1967. There are 108 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

In 1778, Benjamin Franklin was sent to France as American minister plenipotentiary.

In 1923, Jack Dempsey knocked out Luis Angel Firpo in two rounds of a heavyweight championship fight in New York City.

In 1945, the premier of Japan made a peace overture to the American public saying: "Won't you forget Pearl Harbor?"

Ten years ago—Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas flew to Newport, Rhode Island, to confer with President Eisenhower on the explosive situation in Little Rock.

Major Cut in Spending Might Assure Tax Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson must recommend a major spending cut to get a tax increase through Congress, says the message being sent repeatedly from Capitol Hill to the White House.

"The first order of business should be a program laid before Congress saying where cut can be made," Chairman Wilbur D. Mills of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee said Wednesday.

The Arkansas Democrat, who usually leaves most of the questioning of witnesses to his committee colleague, has turned current tax hearings into a public exposition of his economy views—aimed straight at the White House.

Privately he has told associates, who have passed the word along, that if Johnson's proposed 10 per cent income tax surcharge were before the House today, it would be buried in "no" votes.

In a long colloquy Wednesday with a panel of businessmen, all of whom supported the tax increase, Mills developed his argument that Johnson's proposed surcharge, designed to last only as long as Vietnam fighting requires the funds, cannot be merely temporary unless spending is cut in proportion.

The $7.4 billion tax increase, he said, would be matched against a deficit at least three times as large. If the Vietnam fighting goes on and domestic spending continues at a high and rising level, the country, after paying higher taxes, will be facing the same problems a year from now—a yawning deficit, inflation and credit squeeze—Mills said.

The businessmen - witnesses, who included former Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon and former Undersecretary Robert V. Roosa, agreed that cuts well beyond the stage of item-trimming are needed.

They mentioned as such possibilities cutbacks or postponements in highways, space, public work and agricultural support payments.

Erasing Is Unlawful

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP)—The City Council recently adopted an ordinance forbidding motorists to erase the chalk marks which traffic officers put on auto tires to show how long a car has been parked. It provides fines of $5 to $50 or five days in jail.

Curtis LeMay Disclaims Presidential Aspirations

By STEPHEN H. MILLER

MOUNT VERNON, Ohio (AP)—Here in Curtis E. LeMay's old home town a corporal's guard of political amateurs is dedicating itself to the proposition that the retired general can, and should be the next president of the United States.

If LeMay shares either the optimism or enthusiasm of the part-time politicians toiling to win the Republican nomination for him, he manages to contain it, at least in public.

Reached by telephone at Chatsworth, Calif., where he now lives, the former chief of staff of the U.S. Air Force said: "At the present time I don't consider myself running for any public office. As a matter of fact, I'm dodging engagements right now."

LeMay said he had a job to do as board chairman of Network Electronics Corp., and that if he accepted every invitation "I'd never get them done."

The general's less than wholehearted commitment doesn't faze his supporters in Mount Vernon, proudly organized as the Citizens for LeMay.

In fact, his supporters incline to a rather sanguine view of the campaign, and any obstacle that might arise between their man and the White House.

Shirley Fletcher, cofounder of the Citizens for LeMay and co-chairman of the "national" office, pretty well summed up their viewpoint.

"All we need to do," said she, "is refresh the memories of the American people."

To that end, LeMay bumper stickers are now available, and the Citizens are busily circulating press releases outlining the general's positions on various issues. Among other things, LeMay advocates more extensive bombing of North Vietnam, a space program that emphasizes both science and defense, and establishment of a system of labor court to settle labor-management disputes.

Refreshing the public's memory might be the easiest part of the Citizens' job. When LeMay retired two years ago as the Air Force's No. 1 man, after a career that spanned two wars and two generations, his face and his ever-present cigar were newspaper fixtures.

It was LeMay who organized and commanded the Strategic Air Command's cold war bomber fleet, and directed the forging of the country's global bomber-missile force.

You might say the Citizens' homemade campaign began because Mrs. Fletcher had her eyes examined. While chatting with her optometrist, Dr. W. E. Steffan Jr., she discovered that they saw eye to eye on LeMay as presidential material.

They wrote to the general. Would he run? LeMay replied that he would consider making the race, if the public demanded it.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller sounds like a man who would love to be president if he could have the Republican nomination handed to him.

He is a long way from having closed all the doors on himself. In view of some of the things he has said and done in the past, it can be taken with a grain of salt when he says, as he has repeatedly, that "under no circumstance will I be" a candidate for the Republican

Powell Set To Depart Plush Office

WASHINGTON (AP) — As a senior member of the House, Adam Clayton Powell was given a choice office in the new Rayburn Office Building, a lavish corner suite coveted by many other congressmen.

Adorning the walls were autographed photographs from presidents who expressed gratitude for his work as chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee. There were big mounted marlin and sailfish he hooked himself and a lot of plaques citing his achievements.

But the House refused to seat Powell last March, citing alleged financial misconduct, and he is seeking court action to be readmitted.

Powell, a veteran of 11 terms, visited the office Monday while in town to appear before a federal grand jury investigating his affairs.

Instead of his one-time large staff, there were two women clerks. He picked up a few of his things and was gone quickly. The pictures and other wall decorations had previously been taken away.

On Tuesday it was revealed the clerk of the House has notified the two women Powell is being evicted. That means they will have to go elsewhere to handle the problems of Harlem residents who still write their former congressman.

The House clerk has reportedly been pressured to make the eviction move by other congressmen who want the office.

Locksmith Is Handy

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — When Mrs. Paul B. Johnson, wife of the Mississippi governor, arrived for the Southern Governor's Conference she found the weather chillier than her wardrobe was prepared for. She called the governor's mansion in Jackson, Miss., for winter replacements but had the key to the closet in her handbag. A locksmith solved the problem.

Wednesday in an interview with The Associated Press, he said "I'm just not going to be a candidate." This is probably accurate if it means he won't go stumping the country and campaigning in state primaries.

And he repeated what he said before: If his name should be entered in some of the states' preferential primaries where it can be done without an individual's consent, "I will take whatever steps are necessary to remove my name."

Rockefeller, a three-term governor who won last in 1966, gave the impression that so far as he is concerned he has reached the end of his political road and is glad to have it that way.

He says he has a sense of fulfillment now and has no inner drive to get into another presidential contest.

NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT

No. 22794
Estate of Raymond Brown, Deceased.
Notice is hereby given that Betty L. Brown whose Post Office address is Route 4, Circleville, Ohio has been duly appointed Administratrix of the Estate of Raymond Brown late of Pickaway County, Ohio, deceased. Dated this 26th day of August 1967.

But when asked what he would do if the Republicans wanted to draft him, he was very evasive, saying: "I'm not convinced these things happen."

This can be put into simple English another way: While he says he won't try for the nomination, he won't pass it up if he can get it without campaigning.

He is as aware as anyone else, of course, that he is frequently being mentioned as a likely prospect at a time when no other Republican in sight looks like a sure shot for the nomination.

This isn't the first time Rockefeller has given the appearance of taking himself out of consideration.

On Dec. 26, 1959 he said he would not be a candidate for his party's nomination in 1960, a nomination which eventually went to the then Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

He closed the door on himself that time, or so it seemed, after touring the country and finding Nixon was away out in front. Rockefeller said his decision was "definite and final."

But that isn't the way he thought by the late spring of 1960 as the nominating convention drew close, for then he announced he would be willing to be drafted. That never became a problem for him, since Nixon had the nomination cinched.

Rockefeller switched tactics in 1964, when the field was as wide open as it is now. He campaigned for the nomination that year. In fact, he announced his candidacy before anyone else.

But he locked horns with Barry Goldwater who had the nomination far more sewed up than the governor imagined. But, like Nixon before him, Goldwater lost the election.

While Rockefeller gives the impression of being totally satisfied with just being governor, the fact that he won his third-term race in 1966 is probably vitally important to him if he still has hopes for the presidency. It's a launching pad. If he had lost the election, he would be politically finished.

Powell Set To Depart Plush Office

WASHINGTON (AP) — As a senior member of the House, Adam Clayton Powell was given a choice office in the new Rayburn Office Building, a lavish corner suite coveted by many other congressmen.

Adorning the walls were autographed photographs from presidents who expressed gratitude for his work as chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee. There were big mounted marlin and sailfish he hooked himself and a lot of plaques citing his achievements.

But the House refused to seat Powell last March, citing alleged financial misconduct, and he is seeking court action to be readmitted.

Powell, a veteran of 11 terms, visited the office Monday while in town to appear before a federal grand jury investigating his affairs.

Instead of his one-time large staff, there were two women clerks. He picked up a few of his things and was gone quickly. The pictures and other wall decorations had previously been taken away.

On Tuesday it was revealed the clerk of the House has notified the two women Powell is being evicted. That means they will have to go elsewhere to handle the problems of Harlem residents who still write their former congressman.

The House clerk has reportedly been pressured to make the eviction move by other congressmen who want the office.

Locksmith Is Handy

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — When Mrs. Paul B. Johnson, wife of the Mississippi governor, arrived for the Southern Governor's Conference she found the weather chillier than her wardrobe was prepared for. She called the governor's mansion in Jackson, Miss., for winter replacements but had the key to the closet in her handbag. A locksmith solved the problem.

Wednesday in an interview with The Associated Press, he said "I'm just not going to be a candidate." This is probably accurate if it means he won't go stumping the country and campaigning in state primaries.

And he repeated what he said before: If his name should be entered in some of the states' preferential primaries where it can be done without an individual's consent, "I will take whatever steps are necessary to remove my name."

Rockefeller, a three-term governor who won last in 1966, gave the impression that so far as he is concerned he has reached the end of his political road and is glad to have it that way.

He says he has a sense of fulfillment now and has no inner drive to get into another presidential contest.

But when asked what he would do if the Republicans wanted to draft him, he was very evasive, saying: "I'm not convinced these things happen."

This can be put into simple English another way: While he says he won't try for the nomination, he won't pass it up if he can get it without campaigning.

He is as aware as anyone else, of course, that he is frequently being mentioned as a likely prospect at a time when no other Republican in sight looks like a sure shot for the nomination.

This isn't the first time Rockefeller has given the appearance of taking himself out of consideration.

On Dec. 26, 1959 he said he would not be a candidate for his party's nomination in 1960, a nomination which eventually went to the then Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

He closed the door on himself at that time, or so it seemed, after touring the country and finding Nixon was away out in front.

Rockefeller said his decision was "definite and final."

But that isn't the way he thought by the late spring of 1960 as the nominating convention drew close, for then he announced he would be willing to be drafted. That never became a problem for him, since Nixon had the nomination clinched.

Rockefeller switched tactics in 1964, when the field was as wide open as it is now. He campaigned for the nomination that year. In fact, he announced his candidacy before anyone else.

But he locked horns with Barry Goldwater who had the nomination far more sewed up than the governor imagined. But, like Nixon before him, Goldwater lost the election.

While Rockefeller gives the impression of being totally satisfied with just being governor, the fact that he won his third-term race in 1966 is probably vitally important to him if he still has hopes for the presidency. It's a launching pad. If he had lost the election, he would be politically finished.

Teays Valley-Circleville Clash Set

Capacity Crowd Expected To View Gridiron Rivalry

A capacity plus crowd is expected to be on hand Friday at Teays Valley High School when the Circleville Tigers and the Vikings meet in the fifth renewal of the gridiron rivalry between the county's two class AA High schools.

Circleville has won all four previous games and is favored to continue its dominance of the football field this year.

The Viking squad lacks depth, and key players have been sidelined with injuries. Mike Lombardo, a three year veteran of the team, is hobbling around on crutches and may be lost for the year according to reports from the Viking camp.

In addition, second string quarterback Rex Gregg, a sophomore, has a broken finger and with his hand in a cast is out of the lineup for at least three weeks.

WITH Gregg and Lombardo out of the lineup, the responsibility of carrying the offense of the Vikings rests heavily on the shoulders of veteran quarterback Bruce Reese, tailback Tim Wells and other backs Kim Parsons, Ed Miller and Mike Bell.

The interior line for the Vikings in Friday's start will be Rick Stewart and Don Stir, tackles; Jim Deal and Bob Welch, guards, and center Stan Will.

Last week Teays Valley was blasted off the field by a strong Walnut-Ridge squad by a 65-6 score. The Scots are expected to be a contender for the Columbus City League title this year.

Circleville won its opener handily from Grove City, 43-20. Circleville's practices have been marred by a series of minor injuries to Tiger candidates this week.

Bob Dean and Steve Carroll are both lame and have not been going at full speed according to Coach Paul Starr.

BILL Gates, the Tiger line-backer and an All-League defensive end last year, may miss the game. He has been moved to a linebacking slot this year. He and Jim Samuel, the other line-backer, both have banged up knees. Samuel will be ready to play, however.

Phil Diehl, the big Tiger junior tackle, who sat out last week's opener, will be ready for action this week. Diehl was sidelined with a knee infection.

Lynn Heath, who broke a collarbone before the practice season started, will be out at least another week, although he has started running with the football team.

Other injured players include Bruce Liston, who broke a small bone in his hand will be sidelined for several weeks.

The game is the second of three pre-league tuneups for both teams. Teays Valley plays Logan Elm next week before the first league encounter Sept. 29 at Hamilton Twp.

Circleville will host Pleasant View Sept. 22 and meets Greenfield Sept. 29.

Eaton Paces PCC League with 35

Maynard Eaton fired a one-under par 35 to pace the action at the Tuesday Night Men's League at the Pickaway Country Club.

Low net honors went to Ken Osborne, who toured the course in 32.

Team 4 grabbed 18½ points Tuesday night to continue their slim margin for the league championship. And with only one more week to play, any one of four teams has a chance to catch the leaders.

Team 4 has 94 points, team 1 has 92 points, team 5 has 88 points, team 8 has 84 ½ point, team 2 and 3 have 83 point, team 5 has 79½ points and team 7 has 71½ points.

If a play-off is required at the completion of the league next week, it will be held the following Monday. The banquet, which includes dinner, a chipping contest and a putting contest, will be held Tuesday, Sept. 26 at the PCC.

The PCC will also hold an ABCD Tournament this week end. Breakfast will be served.

THE VIKING BACKS — Teays Valley's backfield for the Viking-Circleville football game Friday takes time from a busy practice session to pose with their coach. From the left are Tim Wells, Bruce Reese, Head Coach Robert Hoover, Kim Parsons, Ed Miller and Mike Bell.

Twins, Bosox Both Win, Still Deadlocked in AL

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fit Dean Chance with a fireman's hat and Joe Adcock with something a bit more restraining.

Chance strode out of the Minnesota bullpen for only the second time this season Wednesday night and saved Minnesota's 3-2 victory over Washington and the Twins' lead. Boston, tied for first place with Minnesota, defeated Kansas City 4-2 in an afternoon game.

Adcock's Indians, meanwhile, struggled through 17 scoreless innings, nine of them without a hit against Chicago's Gary Peters and finally lost to the White Sox 2-0 on Rocky Colavito's run-scoring single.

Third - place Detroit remained one game off the pace as Mickey Lolich pitched a five-hitter and Al Kaline and Dick Tracewski rapped home runs in a 6-1 victory over Baltimore.

In the only other American League game played Wednesday, New York dropped California 6-4.

In the National League, New York edged Atlanta 2-1, Pittsburgh pounded Cincinnati 11-3, Philadelphia shut out St. Louis 3-0 and Los Angeles downed San Francisco 6-3.

Jim Kaat was cruising along on a six-hit shutout going into the ninth against Washington and the Twins' 3-0 lead built on Harmon Killebrew's 39th homer, looked substantial enough.

But Frank Howard and Paul Casanova opened with singles and Fred Valentine drove a double off the right field wall. Tony Oliva, attempting to catch Valentine's drive, crashed into the wall and suffered a three - stitch cut in his left eyelid and superficial knee bruises.

Manager Cal Ermer, who had considered removing Kaat before Valentine's hit, waited no longer. "As soon as I saw the ball head for the fence in right," Ermer said, "I knew I'd made a bad move." Now, he made a good one, calling for Chance.

The ace right - hander gave up a sacrifice fly to rookie Frank Coggins and then struck out Mike Epstein and Cap Peterson, leaving the tying run stranded.

credited with more range, especially on kickoffs.

Yepremian, who stands 5-foot-7 and weighs 165 pounds, said he hasn't practiced tackling. But, he said, if someone gets all the way through the rest of the Lions on a kickoff, "I've seen a lot of tackling going on around me, so I'll know what to do."

Peters pitched 11 innings of the strangest one-hit ball you're ever likely to see. The White Sox' ace left-hander permitted only a second inning triple by Joe Azcue but walked 10 batters and was in constant trouble.

Sonny Siebert, meanwhile, matched Peters, allowing three hits in the first four innings and no more until the 11th. But the Indians stranded 11 base runners.

The White Sox finally won it in the 17th when Ken Boyer singled with one out and pinch runner Charlie Bradford raced to second on a passed ball. After Tom McCraw was purposely walked, Colavito singled Bradford home.

Lolich, who lost 10 in a row over one stretch, won his sixth straight for the Tigers after spending most of Wednesday in bed, nursing a cold.

Kaline had three hits and scored three runs. His 24th homer in the third inning followed utility man Tracewski's first of the season.

Tracewski's homer was only the fourth of his major league career and it came against Baltimore's Pete Richert. The two are old friends and Tracewski served as best man at Richert's wedding. "My first two times up in the American League," Tracewski recalled, "he struck me out."

Rico Petrocelli drove in three runs - two of them with a tie-breaking double in the eighth inning as the Red Sox trimmed the Athletics. He singled home Boston's first run in the fourth. Both times, he delivered after Kansas City had purposely walked Ken Harrelson.

So with 15 games remaining for all four contenders, Boston and Minnesota remain tied for the lead, Detroit is one game behind and Chicago three off the pace.

Rookie Jerry Kenney smashed a two-run inside-the-park homer and then drew one of three walks that helped build a four-run sixth inning and a Yankee victory over California. Two of the sixth-inning runs were forced home by bases - loaded walks.

Mud Hens Take Lead Over Jets

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The Toledo Mud Hens came home and promptly moved out ahead of Columbus in the race for the International League Governor's Cup.

The best-of-7 series stood at 1-1 as the two Ohio teams left Columbus but the Mud Hens took a one-game lead in the playoffs by claiming a 2-0 victory over the Jets Wednesday night.

Toledo opened the scoring in the fourth inning when Don Pepper's single brought Dave Campbell home. Wayne Comer's solo homer in the sixth accounted for the final run.

Mud Hen hurler Daryl Patterson fanned 11 batters in seven innings before walking leadoff batter Fred Patek in the eighth. Southpaw reliever Jack DiLauro put down the next six batters in order.

The series continues here tonight with Columbus lefty Jim Shellenback dueling Bob Reed.

Pittsburgh Snaps Reds' Win Skein

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds rested today after an 11-3 shellacking at the hands of the Pittsburgh Pirates that ended their four-game winning streak Wednesday night.

"The way these fellows hit," Manager Dave Bristol said, shaking his head, "they're in double figures so often and they're always tough."

The Pirates got their revenge for two consecutive defeats by bombing four Cincinnati pitchers with 19 runs. Five of the hits were by outfielder Robert Clemente, who raised his batting average to .354 with the help of a home run, a double and three singles.

"It's always nice when you get hits and it's always nice to win," Clemente, who is making a bid for his fourth National League batting crown, said afterward.

Clemente also drove in four runs, while Gene Alley sent across two runners with a seventh-inning single. The Pirates scored five times that inning on three hits, an intentional walk, a wild pitch and two throwing errors.

The Pirates scored twice in the third inning on two singles, a Cincinnati error and a sacrifice fly. The Reds got one of the runs back in the fourth when Vada Pinson led off with a double, moved to third on Lee May's long fly ball, and scored when Tony Prez grounded out.

Clemente hit his 21st home run in the next inning to make it 3-1 and the Pirates increased their lead to 8-1 in the seventh.

Tommie Sisk went all the way for the 10th time to even his record at 12-12. The defeat was charged to Mel Queen, 13-7, the Cincinnati starter who left during the Pirates' seventh-inning outburst.

January To Defend Golf Title

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The touring golf pros challenged Whitemarsh Country Club's par 72 course today in the first round of the $110,000 Philadelphia Golf Classic.

Don January, the defending champion, and virtually all of the prominent members of the tour were on hand to try for the $21,000 first prize. The 72-hole tournament runs through Sunday.

Conspicuous by his absence was Jack Nicklaus, who chose to sit this one out for some time with his family. He won $1,000 with last week's win in the World Series of Golf at Akron, Ohio.

Gay Brewer, the Masters champion, who was second to Nicklaus at Akron, and Roberto De Vicenzo, the British Open titlist, who was third, joined in the shoot-for-third antic at Whitemarsh.

Then there were Gary Player, the South African wonder; Billy Casper, Arnold Palmer, Julius Boros, Bobby Nichols, Gardner Dickinson, Dan Sikes, Gene Littler, Bruce Crampton, etc.

Lions' European Kicker Finds Good Life in U.S.

DETROIT (AP) — Life in the United States has been good to Garo Yepremian, a stubby little Armenian-Cypriot immigrant to these shores by way of England.

Garo, a balding bachelor of 23, dresses sharply and drives a sporty car with his name engraved on a plate on the dash.

The streets aren't exactly paved with gold for Garo, but he's done right well in the unlikely trade of a placekicker for the Detroit Lions of the National Football League.

Yepremian never saw a pro football game until he kicked off to open the Oct. 16 game at Baltimore last year.

He ended leading the team in scoring with 50 points on 11 conversions and 13 field goals. He also set two NFL records with six field goals against Minnesota Nov. 13, including four in one quarter.

The Lions went 3-2 in the exhibition season and open the regular season against the world champion Packers at Green Bay Sunday.

"I'd like to kick a lot of field goals, against them," Yepremian said today. "Or, better than that, I'd like to kick a lot of extra points."

During the exhibition season, the left-footed, soccer-style kicker booted seven extra points and had one blocked, but he's never missed a conversion. "I made four field goals," he said, "and I missed three, one from 45 yards out, one 39-yarder and one 52-yarder. Two of them just missed."

"But I keep trying to improve," he said. "I should never miss under 55 yards. I had a little trouble for a while, but the last couple of days I'm getting better. I'm doing well out to 50 yards."

Garo, who kicks 40-45 times a day in practice, has alternated with Wayne Walker as a placekicker. Walker is generally

Teays Valley-Circleville Clash Set

Capacity Crowd Expected To View Gridiron Rivalry

A capacity plus crowd is expected to be on hand Friday at Teays Valley High School when the Circleville Tigers and the Vikings meet in the fifth renewal of the gridiron rivalry between the county's two class AA high schools.

Circleville has won all four previous games and is favored to continue its dominance of the football field this year.

The Viking squad lacks depth, and key players have been sidelined with injuries. Mike Lombardo, a three year veteran of the team, is hobbling around on crutches and may be lost for the year according to reports from the Viking camp.

In addition, second string quarterback Rex Gregg, a sophomore, has a broken finger and with his hand in a cast is out of the lineup for at least three weeks.

WITH Gregg and Lombardo out of the lineup, the responsibility of carrying the offense of the Vikings rests heavily on the shoulders of veteran quarterback Bruce Reese, tailback Tim Wells and other backs Kim Parsons, Ed Miller and Mike Bell.

The interior line for the Vikings in Friday's start will be Rick Stewart and Don Stur, tackles; Jim Deal and Bob Welch, guards, and center Stan Will.

Last week Teays Valley was blasted off the field by a strong Walnut-Ridge squad by a 65-6 score. The Scots are expected to be a contender for the Columbus City League title this year.

Circleville won its opener handily from Grove City, 43-20. Circleville's practices have been marred by a series of minor injuries to Tiger candidates this week.

Bob Dean and Steve Carroll are both lame and have not been going at full speed according to Coach Paul Starr.

BILL Gates, the Tiger line-backer and an All-League defensive end last year, may miss the game. He has been moved to a linebacking slot this year.

He and Jim Samuel, the other line-backer, both have banged up knees. Samuel will be ready to play, however.

Phil Diehl, the big Tiger junior tackle, who sat out last week's opener, will be ready for action this week. Diehl was sidelined with a knee infection.

Lynn Heath, who broke a collarbone before the practice season started, will be out at least another week, although he has started running with the football team.

Other injured players include Bruce Liston, who broke a small bone in his hand will be sidelined for several weeks.

The game is the second of three pre-league tuneups for both teams. Teays Valley plays Logan Elm next week before the first league encounter Sept. 29 at Hamilton Twp.

Circleville will host Pleasant View Sept. 22 and meets Greenfield Sept. 29.

Eaton Paces PCC League with 35

Maynard Eaton fired a one-under par 35 to pace the action at the Tuesday Night Men's League at the Pickaway Country Club.

Low net honors went to Ken Osborne, who toured the course in 32.

Team 4 grabbed 18½ points Tuesday night to continue their slim margin for the league championship. And with only one more week to play, any one of four teams has a chance to catch the leaders.

Team 4 has 94 points, team 1 has 92 points, team 5 has 84 ½ point, team 2 and 3 have 83 point, team 5 has 79½ points and team 7 has 71½ points.

If a play-off is required at the completion of the league next week, it will be held the following Monday. The banquet, which includes dinner, a chipping contest and a putting contest, will be held Tuesday, Sept. 26 at the PCC.

The PCC will also hold an ABCD Tournament this week end. Breakfast will be served.

United States Yacht Wins Second Race

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP) — Dame Pattie's navigator, Norman Wright and his fellow Aussies have, like John Paul Jones, just begun to fight.

"Let's get into it", Wright said steadfastly after the New York Yacht Club's Intrepid gave the Australian challenger her second straight beating Wednesday in the best of seven series for the America's Cup.

So today, come hell, high water or Intrepid, the two 12 meter sloops will have at it for a third time over the 24.3 mile triangular course on Rhode Island Sound.

Despite losing by about one half mile to Intrepid amounting to a 3 minute 35 second margin - Wright, spokesman for the Aussie boat, said, "We were tremendously encouraged with our performance."

And, in a lighter wind than they had hoped for, the Australians improved markedly on their first race showing. In that one Dame Pattie didn't have the drive that Intrepid had to cut through seas from a 22 knot blow.

Both yachts were bothered by the wakes of the spectator fleet of some 500 yachts, passenger vessel, destroyer and Coast Guard cutters. Both took waves into their cockpits and once on a long port tack on the first leg sailed at eight knots towards the onlooking fleet ending pleasure yachts and destroyers scurrying.

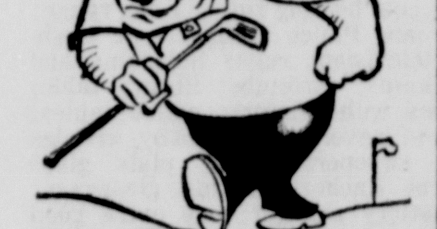

Asked how he felt his chances were, Wright turned back into the dusty history of this 116 year old trophy when, in 1932, Britain's Endeavour, an admittedly flatter boat, took her first two races from America's Rainbow.

"And America won the cup," he said with a John Paul Jonesian authority. And so she did.

Lions' European Kicker Finds Good Life in U.S.

DETROIT (AP) — Life in the United States has been good to Garo Yepremian, a stubby little Armenian-Cypriot immigrant to these shores by way of England.

Garo, a balding bachelor of 23, dresses sharply and drives a sporty car with his name engraved on a plate on the dash.

The streets aren't exactly paved with gold for Garo, but he's done right well in the unlikely trade of a placekicker for the Detroit Lions of the National Football League.

Yepremian never saw a pro football game until he kicked off to open the Oct. 16 game at Baltimore last year.

He ended leading the team in scoring with 50 points on 11 conversions and 13 field goals. He also set two NFL records with six field goals against Minnesota Nov. 13, including four in one quarter.

The Lions went 3-2 in the exhibition season and open the regular season against the world champion Packers at Green Bay Sunday.

"I'd like to kick a lot of field goals, against them," Yepremian said today. "Or, better than that, I'd like to kick a lot of extra points."

During the exhibition season, the left-footed, soccer-style kicker hooted seven extra points and had one blocked, but he's never missed a conversion. "I made four field goals," he said, "and I missed three, one from 45 yards out, one 39-yarder and one 52-yarder. Two of them just missed."

"But I keep trying to improve," he said. "I should never miss under 55 yards. I had a little trouble for a while, but the last couple of days I'm getting better. I'm doing well out to 50 yards."

Garo, who kicks 40-45 times a day in practice, has alternated with Wayne Walker as a place-kicker. Walker is generally

Twins, Bosox Both Win, Still Deadlocked in AL

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Fit Dean Chance with a fireman's hat and Joe Adcock with something a bit more restraining.

Chance strode out of the Minnesota bullpen for only the second time this season Wednesday night and saved Minnesota's 3-2 victory over Washington and the Twins' lead. Boston, tied for first place with Minnesota, defeated Kansas City 4-2 in an afternoon game.

Adcock's Indians, meanwhile, struggled through 17 scoreless innings, nine of them without a hit against Chicago's Gary Peters and finally lost to the White Sox 2-0 on Rocky Colavito's run-scoring single.

Third place Detroit remained one game off the pace as Mickey Lolich pitched a five-hitter and Al Kaline and Dick Tracewski rapped home runs in a 6-1 victory over Baltimore.

In the only other American League game played Wednesday, New York dropped California 6-4.

In the National League, New York edged Atlanta 2-1. Pittsburgh pounded Cincinnati 11-3. Philadelphia shut out St. Louis 3-0 and Los Angeles downed San Francisco 6-3.

Jim Kaat was cruising along on a six-hit shutout going into the ninth against Washington and the Twins' 3-0 lead built on Harmon Killebrew's 39th homer, looked substantial enough.

But Frank Howard and Paul Casanova opened with singles and Fred Valentine drove a double off the right field wall. Tony Oliva, attempting to catch Valentine's drive, crashed into the wall and suffered a three-stitch cut in his left eyelid and superficial knee bruises.

Manager Cal Ermer, who had considered removing Kaat before Valentine's hit, waited no longer. "As soon as I saw the ball head for the fence in right," Ermer said, "I knew I'd made a bad move." Now, he made a good one, calling for Chance.

The ace right-hander gave up a sacrifice fly to rookie Frank Coggins and then struck out Mike Epstein and Cap Peterson, leaving the tying run stranded.

Yepremian, who stands 5-foot-7 and weighs 165 pounds, said he hasn't practiced tackling. But, he said, if someone gets all the way through the rest of the Lions on a kickoff, "I've seen a lot of tackling going on around me, so I'll know what to do."

Peters pitched 11 innings of the strangest one-hit ball you're ever likely to see. The White Sox' ace left-hander permitted only a second inning triple by Joe Azcue but walked 10 batters and was in constant trouble.

Sonny Siebert, meanwhile, matched Peters, allowing three hits in the first four innings and no more until the 11th. But the Indians stranded 11 base runners.

The White Sox finally won it in the 17th when Ken Boyer singled with one out and pinch runner Charlie Bradford raced to second on a passed ball. After Tom McCraw was purposely walked, Colavito singled Bradford home.

Lolich, who lost 10 in a row over one stretch, won his sixth straight for the Tigers after spending most of Wednesday in bed, nursing a cold.

Kaline had three hits and scored three runs. His 24th homer in the third inning followed utility man Tracewski's first of the season.

Tracewski's homer was only

the fourth of his major league career and it came against Baltimore's Pete Richert. The two are old friends and Tracewski served as best man at Richert's wedding. "My first two times up in the American League," Tracewski recalled, "he struck me out."

Rico Petrocelli drove in three runs - two of them with a tie-breaking double in the eighth inning as the Red Sox trimmed the Athletics. He singled home Boston's first run in the fourth. Both times, he delivered after Kansas City had purposely walked Ken Harrelson.

So with 15 games remaining for all four contenders, Boston and Minnesota remained tied for the lead, Detroit is one game behind and Chicago three off the pace.

Rookie Jerry Kenney smashed a two-run inside-the-park homer and then drew one of three walks that helped build a four-run sixth inning and a Yankee victory over California. Two of the sixth-inning runs were forced home by bases-loaded walks.

Mud Hens Take Lead Over Jets

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The Toledo Mud Hens came home and promptly moved out ahead of Columbus in the race for the International League Governor's Cup.

The best-of-7 series stood at 1-1 as the two Ohio teams left Columbus but the Mud Hens took a one-game lead in the playoffs by claiming a 2-0 victory over the Jets Wednesday night.

Toledo opened the scoring in the fourth inning when Don Pepper's single brought Dave Campbell home. Wayne Comer's solo homer in the sixth accounted for the final run.

Mud Hen hurler Daryl Patterson fanned 11 batters in seven innings before walking leadoff batter Fred Patek in the eighth. Southpaw reliever Jack DiLauro put down the next six batters in order.

The series continues here tonight with Columbus lefty Jim Shellenback dueling Bob Reed.

Pittsburgh Snaps Reds' Win Skein

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds rested today after an 11-3 shellacking at the hands of the Pittsburgh Pirates that ended their four-game winning streak Wednesday night.

"The way these fellows hit," Manager Dave Bristol said, shaking his head, "They're in double figures so often and they're always tough."

The Pirates got their revenge for two consecutive defeats by bombing four Cincinnati pitchers with 19 runs. Five of the hits were by outfielder Robert Clemente, who raised his batting average to .354 with the help of a home run, a double and three singles.

"It's always nice when you get hits and it's always nice to win," Clemente, who is making a bid for his fourth National League batting crown, said afterward.

Clemente also drove in four runs, while Gene Alley sent across two runners with a seventh-inning single. The Pirates scored five times that inning on three hits, an intentional walk, a wild pitch and two throwing errors.

The Pirates scored twice in the third inning on two singles, a Cincinnati error and a sacrifice fly. The Reds got one of the runs back in the fourth when Vada Pinson led off with a double, moved to third on Lee May's long fly ball, and scored when Tony Prez grounded out.

Clemente hit his 21st home run in the next inning to make it 3-1 and the Pirates increased their lead to 8-1 in the seventh.

Tommye Sisk went all the way for the 10th time to even his record at 12-12. The defeat was charged to Mel Queen, 13-7, the Cincinnati starter who left during the Pirates' seventh-inning outburst.

January To Defend Golf Title

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The touring golf pros challenged Whitemarsh Country Club's par 72 course today in the first round of the $110,000 Philadelphia Golf Classic.

Don January, the defending champion, and virtually all of the prominent members of the tour were on hand to try for the $21,000 first prize. The 72-hole tournament runs through Sunday.

Conspicuous by his absence was Jack Nicklaus, who chose to sit this one out for some time with his family. He won $1,000 with last week's win in the World Series of Golf at Akron, Ohio.

Gay Brewer, the Masters champion, who was second to Nicklaus at Akron, and Roberto De Vicenzo, the British Open titlist, who was third, joined in the shoot-for-dough antic at Whitemarsh.

Then there were Gary Player, the South African wonder; Billy Casper, Arnold Palmer, Julius Boros, Bobby Nichols, Gardner Dickinson, Dan Sikes, Gene Littler, Bruce Crampton, etc.

Mid-Am Co-Champs Clash Saturday

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Two key Mid-American Conference contests Saturday highlight the start of the 1967 Ohio college football campaign.

The opening card features a 15-game schedule involving 19 Ohio colleges. Nine of the inaugurals are under the lights.

Ohio State doesn't kick off its season until Sept. 30 when Arizona comes to town. The Bucks won't wind things up until after Thanksgiving.

One of the top attractions of the weekend is set for Kalamazoo where Miami and Western Michigan, the Mid-American's co-champs of 1966, collide.

The Redskins, who also tied for the title in 1965 with Bowling Green, are shooting for an unprecedented third straight MAC row.

Coach Bo Schembechler's Skins have whipped the Broncos five straight times, 19 of the last 20 encounters and last year handed Western its only loop loss, 26-7.

Word from Kalamazoo is that the opener could draw 21,000 which would surpass the 20,200 MAC record set in Athens last year.

Miami banks on a strong defense to make up for the loss of quarterback Bruce Matthe. Western has a balanced attack featuring the running of full-back Tim Majerle.

In the other big Mid-Am skirmish, Ohio University invades Toledo for a night tiff with both clubs eager to get off on the right foot.

Coach Bill Hess will unveil the Bobcats' much-heralded sopho quarterback, Cleve Bryant. Toledo counters with veteran signal-caller John Schneider. Both teams are rugged and the victor could take a giant stride toward the championship.

Kent State, bidding to make up for a disappointing season, plays at Buffalo. The Bills nipped the Golden Flashes 27-23 a year ago and Coach Leo Strang is anxious to atone for the setback.

Kent has a veteran backfield that boasts speed and power in Don Fitzgerald, Joe Pledger and Billy Blunt. Ron Swartz directs the attack.

In other attractive night tilts, Eastern Kentucky visits Dayton and Xavier plays host to the Quantico Marines.

Dayton, which enjoyed its best season in 25 years with an 8-2 mark, has most of its regulars back and should start on a winning note.

Xavier will miss star quarterback Carroll Williams, who set a host of Musketier passing records.

Mid-Am Co-Champs Clash Saturday

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Two key Mid-American Conference contests Saturday highlight the start of the 1967 Ohio college football campaign.

The opening card features a 15-game schedule involving 19 Ohio colleges. Nine of the inaugurals are under the lights.

Ohio State doesn't kick off its season until Sept. 30 when the Arizona comes to town. The Bucks won't wind things up until after Thanksgiving.

One of the top attractions of the weekend is set for Kalamazoo where Miami and Western Michigan, the Mid-American's co-champs of 1966, collide.

The Redskins, who also tied for the title in 1965 with Bowling Green, are shooting for an unprecedented third straight MAC row.

Coach Bo Schembechler's Skins have whipped the Broncos five straight times, 19 of the last 20 encounters and last year handed Western its only loop loss, 26-7.

Word from Kalamazoo is that the opener could draw 21,000 which would surpass the 20,200 MAC record set in Athens last year.

Miami banks on a strong defense to make up for the loss of quarterback Bruce Matthe. Western has a balanced attack featuring the running of full-back Tim Majerle.

In the other big Mid-Am skirmish, Ohio University invades Toledo for a night tiff with both clubs eager to get off on the right foot.

Coach Bill Hess will unveil the Bobcats' much-heralded sopho quarterback, Cleve Bryant. Toledo counters with veteran signal-caller John Schneider. Both teams are rugged and the victor could take a giant stride toward the championship.

Kent State, bidding to make up for a disappointing season, plays at Buffalo. The Bills nipped the Golden Flashes 27-23 a year ago and Coach Leo Strang is anxious to atone for the setback.

Kent has a veteran backfield that boasts speed and power in Don Fitzgerald, Joe Pledger and Billy Blunt. Ron Swartz directs the attack.

In other attractive night tilts, Eastern Kentucky visits Dayton and Xavier plays host to the Quantico Marines.

Dayton, which enjoyed its best season in 25 years with an 8-2 mark, has most of its regulars back and should start on a winning note.

Xavier will miss star quarterback Carroll Williams, who set a host of Musketeeer passing records.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — A shortage of trained pilots—nearly 17,000 in all—is plaguing the nation's armed forces, a Senate Armed Forces subcommittee declares.

But the Pentagon denies such a shortage exists.

The problem, according to a report issued by a Senate Armed Services subcommittee, is expected to last well into the 1970's chiefly because of the demand on manpower made by the Vietnam war and the lure of more lucrative, comfortable and less dangerous jobs in commercial aviation.

Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., says all cockpit positions on the Vietnam battle line have been filled, but only after drastic action he feels should have been unnecessary.

The Pentagon, in a statement, denied the report, said the Defense Department has "almost 20 per cent more qualified pilots than are needed," and denied the allegation that combat tours had been extended for pilots.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Otis G. Pike says the government has paid 500 to 2,500 per cent above the manufacturers list price for items it already had in storage.

The New York Democrat called a news conference to display five items—a bearing, a retaining ring, a hexagonal nut, and a flat and a lock washer—he says were bought by Griffis Air Force Base N.Y., through a middleman.

He said the bearing is sold by its manufacturer, the Steven Adamson Manufacturing Co., for $5.08, but the Air Force paid $26.20 to the Bendix Corp., Towson, Md., the supplier.

"not correct" to say McNamara opposed bombing within Haiphong.

Despite McNamara's contention that Hanoi cannot be bombed to the negotiating table, his face of the air war has changed significantly this year, both in terms of targets and numbers of flights.

The emphasis has switched from raid against moving "targets of opportunity" in North Vietnam's southern panhandle to strikes against fixed, key transportation and war-related industrial complexes in the northeast quadrant encompassing Hanoi and Haiphong.

Information gleaned from military reports and interviews indicates that so far this year the administration has authorized three rather distinct phases of what may be loosely termed escalation.

These phases involved attacks on new, but not necessarily new types, of targets.

On Feb. 22, preceding the seasonal weather change which would clear skies over the North land improve bombing capability, President Johnson authorized strikes for the first time against the Thai Nguyen steel mill; three jet airfields; a thermal plant, railroad repair facility and bridges in Hanoi; and a cement plant, fuel dump and military complex in or just outside Haiphong.

The next package of new targets allowed bombing closer to the center of Hanoi and within 10 miles of China. The strikes were authorized in early August at a time when Rep. Gerald R. Ford, House Republican leader, was criticizing bombing restrictions and as the Senate defense preparedness subcommittee began conducting a highly publicized hearing on the conduct of the war.

A third, more recent set of targets was checked off for the military after Sen. John B. Stennis' preparedness group wound up its examination of the air war with a report Aug. 31 assailing the civilian throttling of the bombing. These included Cam Pha and a series of attacks designed to cut transportation routes by which Haiphong feeds out imported war supplies. This was an alternative to hitting Haiphong's docks.

State Department officials hope a new move by the Soviet Union toward agreement on a nuclear inspection system will lead to early enactment of a proposed treaty to outlaw the spread of atomic weapons.

Three peace demonstrators have been fined $50 each for tossing leaflets into the Senate chamber Monday. All three had pleaded guilty.

Chattanooga Still Holds 'Choo Choo'

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Chattanooga still holds its famous civil war "choo choo" after winning two skirmishes with the state of Georgia.

"But it's only the first round," said Mayor John Adams of Kennesaw, Ga., which celebrated a railroad fair today without the top-billed attraction — the civil war locomotive, "General."

The engine, star of the Great Locomotive Chase of 1862, was seized by Chattanooga raiders Tuesday in a replay of a Civil War hijacking. And the Chattanooga continued to win in court Wednesday.

Chancellor Ray Brock ruled that Chattanooga had made a strong enough case to allow his original injunction and attachment of the General to stand.

The Chattanooga boarding party of mayor, city commission and pistol-packing police, waving Brock's order, stopped the General just as the Louisville & Nashville Railroad was about to send it to Kennesaw for permanent enshrinement.

Chattanooga charged in court Wednesday that the engine had been promised to the city as a permanent memorial.

Yankee raiders stole the General in Kennesaw, then Big Shanty, in 1862, but ran out of steam and luck just south of here and were hanged.

Military Leadership Attacked by Young

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stephen M. Young charged Wednesday that generals and admirals who testified recently before a Senate subcommittee exerted "arrogant power" by urging intensified bombing of North Vietnam.

The Ohio Democrat accused the military leaders of attempting to override the judgements of President Johnson and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A shortage of trained pilots—nearly 17,000 in all—is plaguing the nation's armed forces, a Senate Armed Forces subcom- mittee declares.

But the Pentagon denies such a shortage exists.

The problem, according to a report issued by a Senate Armed Services subcommittee, is expected to last well into the 1970's chiefly because of the demand on manpower made by the Vietnam war and the lure of more lucrative, comfortable and less dangerous jobs in commercial aviation.

Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., says all cockpits of planes on the Vietnam battle line have been filled, but only after drastic action he feels should have been unnecessary.

The Pentagon, in a statement, denied the report, said the De- fense Department has "almost 20 per cent more qualified pilots than are needed," and denied the allegation that combat tours

"not correct" to say McNamara opposed bombing within Hai- phong.

Despite McNamara's conten- tion that Hanoi cannot be bombed to the negotiating table, his face of the air war has changed significantly this year, both in terms of targets and numbers of flights.

The emphasis has switched from raid against moving "tar- gets of opportunity" in North Vietnam's southern panhandle to strikes against fixed, key transportation and war-related industrial complexes in the northeast quadrant encompass- ing Hanoi and Haiphong.

Information gleaned from mil- itary reports and interviews in- dicates that so far this year the administration has authorized three rather distinct phases of what may be loosely termed es- calation.

These phases involved attacks on new, but not necessarily new types, of targets.

On Feb. 22, preceding the sea- sonal weather change which would clear skies over the North land improve bombing capabil- ity, President Johnson author- ized strikes for the first time against the Thai Nguyen steel mill; three jet airfields; a ther- mal plant, railroad repair facili- ty and bridges in Hanoi; and a cement plant, fuel dump and military complex in or just out- side Haiphong.

The next package of new tar- gets allowed bombing closer to the center of Hanoi and within 10 miles of China. The strikes were authorized in early August at a time when Rep. Gerald R. Ford, House Republican leader, was criticizing bombing restric- tions and as the Senate defense preparedness subcommittee be- gan conducting a highly public- ized hearing on the conduct of the war.

A third, more recent set of targets was checked off for the military after Sen. John B. Sten- nis' preparedness group wound up its examination of the air war with a report Aug. 31 as- sailing the civilian throttling of the bombing. These included Cam Pha and a series of attacks designed to cut transportation routes by which Haiphong feeds out imported war supplies. This was an alternative to hitting Haiphong's docks.

The New York Democrat called a news conference to dis- play five items—a bearing, a retaining ring, a hexagonal nut, and a flat and a lock wash- er—he says were bought by Griffiths Air Force Base N.Y., through a middleman.

He said the bearing is sold by its manufacturer, the Steven Adamson Manufacturing Co., for $5.08, but the Air Force paid $26.20 to the Bendix Corp., Tow- son, Md., the supplier.

Chattanooga Still Holds 'Choo Choo'

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Chattanooga still holds its fa- mous civil war "choo choo" af- ter winning two skirmishes with the state of Georgia.

"But it's only the first round," said Mayor John Adams of Ken- nesaw, Ga., which celebrated a railroad fair today without the top-billed attraction — the civil war locomotive, "General."

The engine, star of the Great Locomotive Chase of 1862, was seized by Chattanooga raiders Tuesday in a replay of a Civil War hijacking. And the Chatta- noogans continued to win in court Wednesday.

Chancellor Ray Brock ruled that Chattanooga had made a strong enough case to allow his original injunction and attach- ment of the General to stand.

The Chattanooga boarding party of mayor, city commis- sioner and pistol-packing police, waving Brock's order, stopped the General just as the Louis- ville & Nashville Railroad was about to send it to Kennesaw for permanent enshrinement.

Chattanooga charged in court Wednesday that the engine had been promised to the city as a permanent memorial.

Yankee raiders stole the Gen- eral in Kennesaw, then Big Shanty, in 1862, but ran out of steam and luck just south of here and were hanged.

Military Leadership Attacked by Young

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stephen M. Young charged Wed- nesday that generals and ad- mirals who testified recently be- fore a Senate subcommittee ex- erted "arrogant power" by urg- ing intensified bombing of north Vietnam.

The Ohio Democrat accused the military leaders of attempt- ing to override the judgements of President Johnson and Secre- tary of Defense Robert S. Mc- Namara.
